Your Day-By-Day Guide To The Week Ahead

Xena: Warrior Princess, Global The great thing about fantasy is that there are no linear barriers. Although Xena (Lucy Lawless) had a baby back in February, producers realized that you can't have a warrior princess pushing around a pram. So they came up with an ingenious plot device: Xena and her sidekick Gabrielle (Renée O'Connor) are frozen in a block of ice and wake up 25 years later when Xena's kid, now grown, is raising a little hell of her own.

Saturday Night Live, Global/NBC Good old John Goodman (Roseanne) makes his remarkable 11th appearance as host on SNL tonight. But the bigger news may be that the musical guest is our own Neil Young.

MadTV, Fox Before you flip over to SNL, check out Susan Sarandon, Dennis Hopper and producer-director Garry Marshall in tonight's episode.

sunday

Wonderful World of Disney: Geppetto, ABC Italy in the 1880s is the setting for this new musical. Considering his often crass stand-up routine, it's funny to see Drew Carey in such a family-aimed movie, yet, as he does during The Drew Carey Show's patented musical numbers, Carey gives it his all and ultimately pulls off both the acting and singing. (For more on Geppetto, see this week's Family Viewing column.)

Jason and the Argonauts, NBC Jason London (Dazed and Confused) is the title character in this latest mini-series from the prolific Robert Halmi Sr. Jason is sent off to retrieve the legendary Golden Fleece, which will help him regain his father's kingdom, since taken over by the malevolent King Pelias (Dennis Hopper). It's yet another eye-catching TV spectacle that owes a lot not only to the Turkish vistas but to a great supporting cast (including Olivia Williams and Natasha Henstridge) as well. (Part 2 airs Monday.)

Cupid & Cate, CTV/CBS Mary-Louise Parker stars as a woman who is just about to settle down with her rather boring fiancé when she meets the real man of her dreams (Peter Gallagher in an all-too-familiar role). Bebe Neuwirth and Philip Bosco lend support.

wedding secrets, fashions and, ultimately, the happiest day of their lives.

Becker, ONtv/CBS In a weird sort of cross-pollination, Frasier co-star John Mahoney guests as a priest who goes toe-to-toe with the doctor over the God-versus-medicine debate. Mahoney puts in a great performance, but it's not the first time he and Ted Danson have worked together. There was Danson's Sam Malone guest spot on Frasier, of course, but Mahoney also guest-starred on Cheers way back in 1992 as commercial jingle writer Sy Flembeck.

Ally McBeal, CTV/Fox Tonight's episode marks the return (of sorts) for Home Improvement's young heart-throb Jonathan Taylor Thomas, but his appearance alone isn't what's notable. In "Do You Wanna Dance," Ally (Calista Flockhart) strikes up an Internet romance with a new beau. The trouble is ... well, you get the picture.

Just Shoot Me, ONtv/NBC One of the best characters on TV today has got to be Wendie Malick's crass, bubble-headed ex-model Nina Van Horn. Fans of the show know that Nina's oblique references to her past are always filled with tantalizing mystery. That may change after tonight when Just Shoot Me puts on a mock episode of A&E's Biography all about Nina. Harry Smith is the host, with faux interviews featuring Don Henley, Robert Evans and Cheryl Tiegs as themselves, as well as the regular cast. Fantastic!

Judging Amy, ONtv/CBS Amy finds herself facing off with her mother Maxine (Tyne Daly) in court when the case of a child murderer comes before her.

wednesday

The Drew Carey Show, ABC We can't print the racy title of tonight's episode, but viewers who have been anxious for Drew and Kate to consummate their relationship don't have to wait any longer.

Beverly Hills 90210: The Final Goodbye, Global/Fox Cramming 10 years' worth of high- (and low-) lights into one hour is not an easy task, but it gets easier when past cast members return to share stories and memories. Unfortunately, at press time, it didn't look like Jason Priestley (Brandon) would be one of them.

Sharing the Secret, CBS Mare Winningham stars in this new TV-movie as a mother who must face her daughter's bulimia by confronting the problems in her own family, particularly with her ex-husband (Tim Matheson). Sharing the Secret could have become one of those preachy "After-school Specials," but it does not, thanks to the skilled direction of Katt Shea Ruben who, with film credits like Poison Ivy and The Rage: Carrie 2, has some experience directing troubled teenage girls.

Peter Benchley's Amazon, ONtv Canadian actress Margot Kidder, who turned in a funny guest spot recently on Made in Canada, returns to TV tonight for a three-episode stint as – of all things – a witch. Decked out in exotic makeup, hair extensions and fangs, Kidder plays Morag the white witch, a sort of eccentric (read: psychotic) protector of the jungle.

friday

49th Annual Miss Universe Pageant, ONtv/CBS Cyprus plays host to the event's millennium celebration as women vie for the ultimate pageant title, with Canada represented by Edmonton's Kim Hee.

Gloria Estefan, Caribbean Soul: The Atlantis Concert, CBS Latin hunk Marc Anthony and pop group *NSYNC join Estefan in a concert from Atlantis, Paradise Island in the Bahamas. Estefan's new Spanish language album, Alma Caribea (Caribbean Soul), will be released soon.

Here's To You, Charlie Brown: 50 Great Years! (Wednesday, CBS) You may think that the death of Charles Schulz in February had something to do with this one-hour, all-star tribute, but that's not the case. In fact, the special was conceived before his death (he helped produce it) as a way to honor the Peanuts characters themselves.

Fan Whoopi Goldberg was handpicked by Schulz to host six segments focusing on recurring themes like Love, Snoopy, Music and, of course, Sports, in which Willie Mays, Joe Montana and Yankees manager Joe Torre drop in to reminisce. The inclusion of country singer Faith Hill's rendition of "Poor, Sweet Baby" (from the 1983 stage play Snoopy: The Musical) is a bonus. Meanwhile, if you want to see Peanuts in action, tune in to Teletoon on Saturday for the classic Bon Voyage, Charlie Brown, in which Chuck and friends hop the pond for an adventure in Europe. Thankfully, both shows don't instill feelings of finality now that Schulz is gone; instead, they remind us that Charlie, Lucy, Schroeder and the rest will be with us – like a warm, baby-blue security blanket – for generations to come.

Jaws (Grade: B), ABC Long before last year's Lake Placid (which featured a giant crocodile), came this 1975 nailbiter about a giant man-eating shark that terrorizes the shores of a small town. Roy Scheider leads a small team sent to nab the cold-blooded monster – if it doesn't nab them first. While this 1975 Steven Spielberg film did set financial standards for movies thereafter, it's not the masterpiece many like to think. But it's worth a peek to see the special effects of the pre-digital age.

My Best Friend's Wedding (B+), ABC Everyone in this 1997 film outshines its star, Julia Roberts, yet one is strangely engrossed by Roberts's selfish dilemma (she wants to ruin her male friend's upcoming nuptials). Cameron Diaz displays her impeccable comic timing, and Rupert Everett (as Roberts's confidant) steals scenes with ease.

wednesday

Breast Men (B+), Showcase This 1998 film follows the doctors (David Schwimmer, Chris Cooper) who invented breast implants, from their heyday in the '60s to their vilification in the '80s. It's a serious, somewhat flawed observation of people who thought they were helping women, when in fact they were actually harming them.

friday

The Witches (A), Family This 1990 fantasy is delightful not just for Jim Henson's effects, but also for Anjelica Huston's evil performance as the Grand High Witch. Although it's branded a "children's movie," The Witches is a joy for adults, as it doesn't shy from the nasty implications of the magic. TV GUIDE

When life is not beautiful

American Beauty (Grade: A) is a unique film. It's funny, but not a comedy. It's dramatic, but it's not really a drama. It's got a few shocks, but it's not a thriller. And while there are a few romantic parts, it's definitely not a love story.

Lester Burnham (Kevin Spacey) is your average, middle-class, suburban white guy – who happens to be going through a mid-life crisis. His wife, Carolyn (Annette Bening), depises him, his teen daughter, Jane (Thora Birch), is embarrassed by him and he hates his job.

Kevin Spacey won an Oscar for his performance as a flipped-out suburbanite

So Lester basically loses it. He takes a menial job, speaks "candidly" to his family, and most disturbingly, falls in love with his daughter's best friend.

Carolyn, a realtor, is going through a mid-life crisis of her own – her dreams are higher than her abilities, and she knows it – until she becomes friendly with a rival agent (Peter Gallagher).

Meanwhile, Jane is dating the weirdo next-door neighbor, called Ricky Fitts (Wes Bentley), who films everything. Ricky leads a very *un*beautiful life, mostly due to his reactionary, close-minded father (Chris Cooper). And, of course, there's Angela (Mena Suvari), with whom Lester becomes infatuated.

In March, Spacey won a Best Actor Oscar, and it's no surprise. He carries the film, and in the hands of a lesser actor American Beauty would have been ludicrous. Instead, it was the Best Picture of 1999.

American Beauty is beautifully acted, beautifully written (Alan Ball picked up a Best Original Screenplay Oscar) and beautifully directed (Sam Mendes won Best Director). It needs to be seen. TV GUIDE

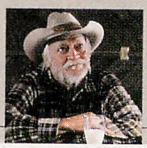
Bringing Out the Dead (B+) Martin Scorsese directed this story of a paramedic (Nicolas Cage, right) who is tormented by the memory of a woman he could not save. There's no conventional plot, but it's more like a three-day snapshot of the life of a man who has an incredibly stressful job. John Goodman also stars.

The Straight Story (A) Richard Farnsworth (below) got an Oscar nomination as Alvin Straight, a real character who drove a lawn tractor cross-state to visit his estranged, dying brother. It's slow, but also very beautiful to watch. Directed by David Lynch, of all people.



Mystery, Alaska (B-) From the pen of David E. Kelley (Ally McBeal) comes this flick about an amateur hockey team. The residents of a small town, Mystery, play hockey every Saturday. The New York Rangers, as a publicity stunt, arrange to play the Alaskans. Russell Crowe (The Insider) stars as an aging sheriff whose hockey skills are disappearing.

Remaking a classic

More than 100 years after the "little puppet made of pine" first came to life in an Italian story, Disney has remade its 1940 animated classic Pinocchio – with a twist.

Wonderful World of Disney's Geppetto (Sunday, ABC) is a live-action musical starring Drew Carey as the title character. The film retells the familiar Carlo Collodi story through the eyes of the kind toymaker who desperately wants a son.

With the help of the Blue Fairy (Seinfeld's Julia Louis-Dreyfus), Geppetto's wish for a son is granted. But the toymaker soon realizes being a father is more challenging than he ever expected, and he asks the Blue Fairy to undo her magic.

Drew Carey (left) stars as Geppetto, the toymaker whose marionette (Seth Adkins) is brought to life

BOB D'AMICO / ABC, INC. FAMILY CHANNEL

When Pinocchio (Seth Adkins) thinks he isn't wanted, he runs away to join a travelling puppet show run by the wickedly funny character Stromboli, played with zeal by Brent Spiner (Star Trek: The Next Generation) in a show-stealing performance. Stromboli mistreats Pinocchio, and the boy escapes, beginning a journey full of adventure. Hot on his heels are Stromboli and Geppetto, who regrets losing his wooden boy and wants him back.

Geppetto is Disney's first original made-for-television musical. Thanks to Academy Award-winning composer Stephen Schwartz (Pocahontas, The Prince of Egypt), the production has a light and lively feel. With no vocal stand-ins, all the actors sing their own songs. One of the catchiest tunes is "Pleasure Island," performed by hit-making hip-hop musician Usher Raymond, who stars as the mean circus ringleader.

Despite the cheerful tunes and Carey's comic ability, Disney's Geppetto doesn't have the timeless appeal of the original Pinocchio, but does provide fun and reliable family fare. TV GUIDE

All about Amy

Eager to try her luck in Los Angeles, Guiding Light star Amy Ecklund (Abigail) will leave the New York soap when her contract expires in July. The actress, who has been deaf since childhood, underwent cochlear implant surgery last year and has since been able to hear astoundingly well.

TV Guide: So you're leaving to be a big star?

Amy Ecklund: Well, I certainly hope so. My biggest goal is to achieve wealth and power in Hollywood and lay my enemies asunder. I really want to do a sitcom. I'm working on a stand-up comedy act right now and want to [debut] it before I leave New York, where everybody is supercritical. It's something I've wanted to do for a long time, but I've let fear stop me. Now it's time to get off my ass.

TVG: Is it autobiographical?

Ecklund: Oh, yeah. I've got all my love affairs in there, and the ear stuff, and plenty of cussing.

TVG: Now that you can hear, is there any need to mention your condition when you go on auditions?

Ecklund: No, isn't that amazing? I used to be petrified that I wouldn't be able to understand the casting directors. Now I don't have that worry. But I do plan to bring it up when I'm shmoozing at all those Hollywood parties. It gets people to stop talking about that tired, old showbiz bull and instead open up about things they really care about.

GL's Amy Ecklund: She's a star in New York; will she be a star in L.A.?

TVG: Do you have good contacts out there?

Ecklund: Well, I went to college with [Angel star] David Boreanaz. I slept with his roommate and left my earring in his bed. Now he's that damn vampire on TV! Does that count? D'ya think I should look him up? TV GUIDE

Brit-Asian comedy

In 1960, Peter Sellers and Sophia Loren hit No. 4 on the British charts with a song called "Goodness Gracious Me." Sellers adopted a heavy East Indian accent and repeated that phrase over and over – soon people were using it to mock Asian accents unkindly.

Currently, one of the most popular shows in Britain is Goodness Gracious Me, a sketch show with a cast of Asian actors. They seek, well, "revenge" is too strong since the tone isn't at all adversarial, but they clearly seek to turn the tables. In Canada, the show airs Saturdays on the Comedy Network.

The four main stars are Nina Wadia, Meera Syal, Sanjeev Bhaskar and Kulvinder Ghir. Wadia, whose husband is Canadian, was surprised by how quickly all parts of English society grew to love the show. "I did not think it would be this mainstream," she says. "I thought it would make, you know, my family laugh. We thought Asians would get it."

The humor of (clockwise from top left) Sanjeev Bhaskar, Kulvinder Ghir, Meera Syal and Nina Wadia appeals to everyone

THE COMEDY NETWORK

Not all of the jokes depend on ethnicity, though. One recurring character is Mr. Cheque Please!, whose dates storm out of restaurants because he's a rude man.

Still, as Wadia points out, jokes from an Asian standpoint are integral to their success. "There are loads of sketch shows on in England right now," she says. "What makes us different is the British-Asian angle."

Arguably, the most popular characters are the Kapoor family (pronounced Cooper), who are trying to blend into the English middle class. In fact, a Kapoor sketch led to the biggest controversy so far – Mr. Kapoor went to an English church and put some chutney on a communion wafer. "We've been way over the line too many times," says Wadia with a laugh. "We can't please everyone."

The show is a big hit throughout Britain. "We saw a group of young white boys, from a school in Oxford," Wadia says. "They all loved the show and were walking around with heavy accents [mimicking the characters]. We were looking at them, thinking, 'Wow, this is really weird.'" TV GUIDE

The action heats up on Coronation Street as newcomers cross paths with veterans

Ask devoted Coronation Street fans to name their favorite character, and odds are they'll name two – one young and one old. In fact, one of the strengths of the enduring British soap over the past 40 years has been its ability to close the generation gap. When a new, younger character has entered the picture in recent years, viewers are instantly receptive. And the best way to ensure that warm reception is to have that character share a story with an established face, from whom some "belovedness" will hopefully rub off.

The Coronation Street formula, at least according to official archivist Daran Little, is to drop the young characters into the system and then assimilate them into the cast. "I think it's quite funny when people complain about the younger characters brought in," he says. "You have to grow on the program. Otherwise, you'd have to move the show into the old folks home. It has to be an ongoing process."

Currently, the hottest mixing of the ages is the wild romance between Mike (Johnny Briggs, who has been with the show since 1976) and his tarty girlfriend Linda (Jacqueline Pirie, 1998). In the past year, Linda has gone from being a sewing-machine operator at Mike Baldwin's factory to becoming his live-in lover. Even stranger is the fact that Mike's son, Mark (Paul Fox, 1999), who is also carrying on an affair with Linda, is played by an actor who wasn't even born when Briggs joined the show. Still, Fox has plenty of background: "I grew up on it," he told a recent radio interview. "My parents were great fans, so it's a thrill to be in it. It's great and I'm loving every minute of it."

The Baldwin love triangle has heated up in recent episodes. The instant Mike leaves the room, Linda and Mark jump into bed. The best scenes are yet to come. The two cheaters better have detailed escape plans – sooner or later, Mike will discover the double betrayal, and that's when the fun will begin. Mike, the show's cold-hearted capitalist, doesn't like being played for a fool, but, the rare times when someone has tricked him, his revenge has been swift and merciless.

Currently, the most controversial storyline surrounds Sarah Louise (Tina O'Brien, 1999). The 14-year-old daughter of Gail (Helen Worth, 1973) and stepdaughter of Martin (Sean Wilson, 1985) recently discovered that she is pregnant. The plot has been a real

Not the Queen's English

Sometimes it's difficult to understand the words used on Coronation Street. Here's a brief rundown of the most common, with examples:

nowt = naught, nothing. "You'll get nowt from me but a stern lecture," Rita has said to just about everyone.

summit = something. "Let me tell you summit!" said Rita, delivering a stern lecture.

on yer bike! = go away! "On yer bike! You're not wanted around here!" said Dev to Amy in the middle of the Rovers.

chuffed = happy, extremely pleased. "I'm chuffed that you've finally decided to stop vandalizing my house," said Natalie to Sally.

butty, sarnie, bap = sandwich. One of the most popular meals at Roy's Rolls is Gail Platt's famous bacon butty.

full english = a big British breakfast, which is likely to include eggs, bacon and toast.

scotch and threat = Fred's favorite drink in the pub. It's short for "scotch and a threat of water," which means no water at all. That is, it's a fancy way of asking for straight scotch.

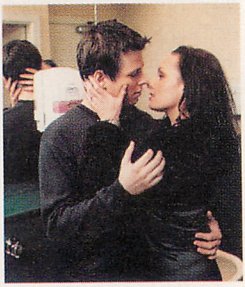
quid = pounds (the monetary kind). "I owe the government 500 quid," said a distraught Les, "or else I'm going to jail."

stone = 14 pounds (the weighing kind). If someone is 10 stone, that means he (or she) weighs 140 pounds. "My brain weighs zero stone," said Kevin, to a chuffed Tyrone (above).

test for the actors involved, but O'Brien's job is made easier by sharing her scenes with strong veterans Worth and Wilson. In general, Wilson admits the show's storylines today are more complicated than when he began. "The cast has doubled since I arrived," he muses. "Part of the fun is not knowing where our characters are going. I don't think the writers themselves know more than a few months ahead."

Elsewhere, 16-year-old Tyrone (Alan Halsall, 1998) is arguably the most popular introduction to the show in recent years. He currently lives with Jack (William Tarmey, 1979) and Vera (Liz Dawn, 1974) and is being taught to read by Ken Barlow (William Roache, who has been on the show since its very first episode in 1960). Ken, of course, also finds time to lecture Tyrone on the importance of schooling and dressing properly.

And there's Dev (Jimmi Harkishin, 1999). Dev had a unique first story, which involved virtually everybody on the street. Unfortunately, it involved everybody hating him because his ex-girlfriend had told them all lies. Fortunately, it's all clear now. Judging by Internet newsgroup postings, the handsome East Indian actor has become a popular character and something of a sex symbol.



Rookie Alan Halsall shares a scene with Corrie vet William Roache (top), while Paul Fox and Jacqueline Pirie heat things up (bottom)

Just a few years ago, Corrie was moving away from such interaction. Most storylines focused on just the younger characters, which left viewers dismayed. Although Corrie didn't suffer that much in the ratings, it did suffer creatively. New actors were hired for their good looks, but not necessarily their acting abilities. Worst of all, these youngsters would leave after a year, for other acting gigs or to record CDs. No loyalty was being built – few fans could tolerate, let alone love, many of the new characters.

And if there's one thing Corrie fans are, it's loyal. "Very loyal and very vocal," says Cindy McKay, a CBC communications officer. A few months ago, when the Sunday episode aired early, some fans missed it. The CBC's comment line was swamped with complaints. "We had 325 messages in, I think, 25 minutes," McKay says with a laugh. "That's the strongest reaction in a long time." No other show on the network draws such a passionate response. Aside from news and sports, Coronation Street is the most-watched program on CBC, drawing around 650,000 viewers every week.

This fall, several new characters will be introduced. Chances are, Corrie will stick to its usual young versus old structure. If it keeps up, then, maybe, in the year 2040, a middle-aged Tyrone will be the one welcoming the youngsters with open arms. TV GUIDE

Portia de Rossi's Thai temptations

Let's see. What would an Australian actress, transplanted to Los Angeles, who plays an icy Boston lawyer on Ally McBeal, consider her favorite food? "It's a toss-up," laughs Portia de Rossi, who plays Ally's arch-enemy Nelle Porter. "Either really yummy sushi or Thai food. No," she says with a laugh, "it's Thai. I absolutely love the peanut sauce."

For anyone familiar with de Rossi's homeland, her answer is anything but surprising. In Australia, Thai restaurants outnumber both Chinese restaurants and Italian – including pizza places! In Melbourne, where de Rossi was born and raised, several Thai restaurants regularly feature on food critics' end-of-year lists.

While she confesses to a fondness for all Thai cuisine, de Rossi does have a favorite dish. "I really enjoy a good pad Thai noodles with peanut sauce," she says. "But it has to be good, you know. It should be the restaurant's signature dish."

De Rossi also loves the different varieties of Thai curry, green, red, yellow, wet or dry, with their varying intensities of spice and heat – especially when there's plenty of tofu in the sauce.

After living in a rented house on the west side of L.A. for the past couple of years, de Rossi has just bought her first Hollywood home – a two-storey penthouse in a Deco building just off Sunset Strip. She admits that her mind is more fixated on getting the decorating right than cooking anything in her new kitchen. "Yeah," she laughs. "I'm looking for the right staircase right now."

One thing's certain – she won't starve: All of Hollywood's best Thai places are located just minutes away. TV Guide

Thai Seasonings

1. Like France, Thailand enjoys a gastronomic tradition several centuries old. Subtle and complex flavor combinations are the hallmark of Thai cooking, the idea being to achieve harmony through balancing salty, sweet, sour, hot and aromatic flavors. As in neighboring India, Thai cooks are famous for their curries, but use fresh seasoning agents rather than dried spices.

2. The most common condiment is fish sauce, an anchovy paste that lends its salty tang to nearly every dish. Sweet flavors in Thai cuisine come from coconut milk and palm sugar, while sour flavors are achieved using lime leaves, lemon grass, tamarind and unripe, shredded mango and papaya. Heat is provided by fiery chilies, pepper and fresh galangal, a close relative of ginger. Aromatic seasonings include mint, Thai basil and coriander.

Green Thai Tofu Curry

1 lb/500 g	firm tofu
1 tbsp/15 mL	green curry paste, or to taste
1	can (14 oz/398 mL) coconut milk, divided
2 tbsp/25 mL	peanut or vegetable oil
1/4 cup/50 mL	finely chopped shallots or onions
1 tbsp/15 mL	finely chopped gingerroot
2	carrots, peeled & sliced
1	zucchini, sliced
1 tsp/5 mL	grated lime rind
	fish sauce or salt, to taste
1 cup/250 mL	baby corn, drained and cut in half
1/4 cup/50 mL	chopped fresh coriander

Drain tofu if necessary. Cut into 1/2 in. (1 cm) cubes; set aside. In saucepan over medium-high heat, sauté curry paste with about 1/4 cup (50 mL) coconut cream (taken from top of canned coconut milk) until oil starts to separate from the coconut milk; remove from heat and set aside. In wok or large skillet, heat oil over medium-high heat; sauté shallots and gingerroot for 1 minute. Add carrots and zucchini; cook until tender-crisp. Stir in curried coconut cream, remaining coconut milk, lime rind and fish sauce to taste. Bring to boil; reduce heat and simmer 5 minutes. Stir in corn, tofu and coriander; simmer 2 minutes. Serve with Thai Jasmine rice. Makes 4 servings.

PER SERVING (WITHOUT RICE): 494 CALORIES, 24 G PROTEIN, 38.5 G FAT, 23 G CARBOHYDRATE.

Spicy Mango and Carrot Salad

DRESSING
1/4 cup/50 mL	fresh lime juice
2 tbsp/25 mL	fish sauce
1 tsp/5 mL	palm sugar or light brown sugar
1	large clove garlic, minced
2	fresh hot chilies (or more to taste), chopped & seeded
1/2 tsp/2 mL	salt or 1 tsp (5 mL) dried shrimp powder
SALAD
2 cups/500 mL	grated carrots
2	green mangos, peeled&grated
2	tomatoes, chopped & seeded leaf lettuce
1/2 cup/125 mL	chopped peanuts

DRESSING: Combine lime juice, fish sauce, sugar, garlic, chopped chilies and salt, mixing well. SALAD: In a bowl, mix together grated carrots, mangoes and tomatoes; toss together with dressing. This can be prepared ahead of time to this point and stored, covered in the refrigerator for up to 1 day. To serve, line platter with lettuce and mound the salad in the centre; garnish with chopped peanuts. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

PER 6 SERVINGS (WITHOUT LETTUCE): 164 CALORIES, 5.5 G PROTEIN, 7 G FAT, 23 G CARBOHYDRATE. PER 8 SERVINGS (WITHOUT LETTUCE): 123 CALORIES, 4 G PROTEIN, 5 G FAT, 18 G CARBOHYDRATE.

Rewind

by Darren O'Donoghue

17 Years Ago This Week

When the final episode of Laverne & Shirley aired May 10, 1983, the only thing in TV Guide to commemorate the demise of the once wildly popular show was that Joanie Loves Chachi would return the following week. How was it that the highest-rated show of 1977-78 and 1978-79 could disappear with such little fanfare? In truth, the honeymoon ended long before.

Laverne & Shirley, spun off from Happy Days in 1976, chronicled the escapades of two spirited, young working-class women determined to make it on their own in 1950s Milwaukee. They were dissimilar in almost every way – Laverne De Fazio (Penny Marshall) was hot-headed and caustic, Shirley Feeney (Cindy Williams) was naive and virtuous – but, nonetheless, they were best friends to the end.

'70s icons Cindy Williams (Shirley) and Penny Marshall (Laverne)

Some labelled Laverne & Shirley "groundbreaking" for its unglamorized portrayal of independent women who could succeed without men; others, like Time, branded it a "deplorable success." Either way, it was one of the final shows to emphasize physical comedy as much as it did verbal.

Over time, the show moved its setting into the '60s and the girls out to L.A. While the climate may have been warmer, the response from viewers was noticeably cold. In 1979-80, L&S dropped out of the top 25 for the first time since its première. And even though it became apparent that life behind the scenes was less than tranquil – thanks to a profound rivalry between the show's stars – it was actually a number of other factors that spelled doom for L&S.

First, Williams filed a $20-million lawsuit against producer Garry Marshall, claiming he attempted to squeeze her out when she got pregnant; second, Williams quit the show in 1982; finally, viewers' tastes began to change. With competition from The A-Team, L&S made critics' dreams come true when its plug was quietly pulled. TV GUIDE

Fast Facts

1. A hilarious lampooning of Laverne & Shirley's opening credit sequence can be seen in the 1992 Mike Myers film Wayne's World.

2. It was written into the contracts of both Penny Marshall and Cindy Williams that they would each have exactly the same number of lines.

3. The show's theme, "Making Our Dreams Come True," was a top-25 hit single in the summer of 1976.

LOVED THE OSCARS ...

... HATED THE OSCARS

Three cheers to the CBC for having an exceptional alternative [Grizzlies of the Canadian Rockies and Sharks of the Golden Triangle] to the Oscars [which aired on March 26]! I will not be patronizing the Oscars until the real heroes of our time, such as the police officers and doctors, get the recognition and pay that the people in the "entertainment" industry receive. I much prefer to view the type of sharks that swim in the ocean and carnivores that inhabit the forests.

Update

by Brian Hartigan

NETWORK MOVES

• ABC has axed Boy Meets World after a seven-year run, while Fox has renewed Titus for next year.

EXITS

• Vivica A. Fox is leaving City of Angels, assuming the series is even renewed for next season.

SIGNED

• Billy Campbell (Once and Again) has been cast as Moses, alongside Geraldine Chaplin, Martin Landau and Jacqueline Bisset for In the Beginning, an NBC mini-series chronicling the early books of the Bible. It's expected to air in November.

IN CONTENTION?

• While it's far from official, the New York Post recently published a list of potential replacements for Kathie Lee Gifford. They include: Maria Bartiromo (CNBC), Joy Behar (below, The View), Caroline Rhea (Sabrina, the Teenage Witch), Susan Campos (National Enquirer TV), Jann Carl (Entertainment Tonight), Susan Lucci (All My Children), Cybill Shepherd (Cybill) and Linda Dano (General Hospital). The lucky person who will sit next to Reege come fall will likely be announced in August.

IN PRODUCTION

It seems that TV-movie production is heating up for the summer in Canada. Among the stories going before cameras in the Great White North:

• ABC's Bailey's Mistake with Linda Hamilton (Beauty and the Beast).

• a CBS film called Alaska Love with Valerie Bertinelli.

• Hallmark Entertainment's Even Song, filming in Toronto.

• Natasha Richardson in the CBS mini-series Haven, also in Toronto.

• Steven Spielberg's mini-series, called Taken, in North Vancouver.

• The TBS remake High Noon, in Calgary, with Tom Skerritt (above), Reed Diamond and Maria Conchita Alonso.

• CBS will also film The Moving of Sophia Miles and One True Love.

• U.S. cable networks, meanwhile, have When Bryan Came Home and the Anne Rice mini-series The Feast of All Saints.

Improv Heaven & Hell

Return: Those unmistakable red-horned hellions are back. The Devil's Advocates (Albert Howell, L, and Andrew Currie), who some may remember from their humble beginning on Citytv's Speakers Corner, start their second season with a revamped format, a new set and some new threads. On the surface this improv show has a similar feel to Whose Line is it Anyway?, with the Advocates overseeing a core group of improvisers in a number of themed skits. Among the group is Canadian Comedy Award winner and Whose Line regular Colin Mochrie, whose quick, quirky style keeps many of the scenes moving. When the Advocates are done presiding from their gothic thrones, they offer up live-to-tape, unrehearsed and unedited laughs. In the funniest segment of tonight's episode, Currie and Howell are interviewed by another cast member and have to answer in sync — as though they are one person. The Devil's Advocates' distinct sense of humor and genuine enthusiasm unquestionably steal the show. Too bad they don't have more of a role. — Stephanie Kus

RIMADYL*

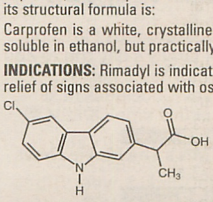
carprofen caplets
Non-steroidal anti-inflammatory drug
For oral use in dogs

PRODUCT SUMMARY:

DESCRIPTION: Rimadyl (carprofen) is a non-steroidal anti-inflammatory drug (NSAID) of the propionic acid class that includes ibuprofen, naproxen, and ketoprofen. The chemical name for Rimadyl, a substituted carbazole, is (±)-6-chloro-α-methylcarbazole-2-acetic acid and its structural formula is:

Carprofen is a white, crystalline compound with an empirical formula of $C_{15}H_{12}NO_2Cl$ and a molecular weight of 273.72. It is freely soluble in ethanol, but practically insoluble in water at 25°C.

INDICATIONS: Rimadyl is indicated for the relief of pain and inflammation in dogs. Rimadyl was shown to be clinically effective for the relief of signs associated with osteoarthritis in dogs.



DOSAGE AND ADMINISTRATION: The recommended dosage for oral administration to dogs is 2.2 mg carprofen per kg of body weight twice daily. Caplets are scored and dosage should be calculated in half-caplet increments.

CONTRAINDICATIONS: Rimadyl should not be used in dogs exhibiting previous hypersensitivity to carprofen.

CAUTIONS: As a class, cyclo-oxygenase inhibitory NSAIDs may be associated with gastrointestinal and renal toxicity. NSAIDs decrease prostaglandin production and inhibit the enzyme cyclo-oxygenase which leads to formation of prostaglandins from arachidonic acid. While NSAIDs inhibit prostaglandins that promote inflammation, they may also inhibit prostaglandins which maintain normal function. These anti-prostaglandin side-effects may result in clinically significant disease in patients with underlying or pre-existing disease more often than in healthy patients. NSAID therapy could therefore reveal the presence of disease which has been previously undiagnosed due to the absence of clinical signs. Patients with underlying renal disease for example, may experience exacerbation or decompensation of their renal disease while on NSAID therapy.

Carprofen is an NSAID and, as with others in that class, side effects may occur with its use. The most frequently reported effects have been mild gastrointestinal signs. Events involving suspected renal, hematologic, neurologic, dermatologic, and hepatic effects have also been reported. Patients at greatest risk for renal toxicity are those on concomitant diuretic therapy, or those with renal, cardiovascular, and/or hepatic dysfunction. Since many NSAIDs possess the potential to induce gastrointestinal ulceration, concomitant use of Rimadyl with other anti-inflammatory drugs, such as corticosteroids and NSAIDs, should be avoided or very closely monitored. Although the drug class has been associated with renal toxicity and gastrointestinal ulceration, Rimadyl treatment did not produce these effects in well-controlled safety studies of up to ten times the dose in dogs.

Prior to administration of Rimadyl or other NSAIDs to some patients, such as geriatric dogs, a physical examination should be conducted and laboratory tests to establish hematological and serum biochemical baseline data prior to drug therapy should be considered. Periodic monitoring may be appropriate in certain patients. Dogs receiving Rimadyl should be observed for signs of drug intolerance, such as inappetence, vomiting, diarrhea, melena, polyuria/polydipsia, anemia, jaundice, lethargy, ataxia, seizure, or behavioural changes. Susceptibility to drug-associated adverse effects varies with the individual patient. Recognition of possible drug-related clinical signs followed by cessation of drug therapy, and by supportive therapy if appropriate, will improve patient recovery. The side effects of this drug class, in rare situations, may be serious, and if corrective action is not taken may result in hospitalization or even fatal outcomes.

The safe use of Rimadyl in pregnant dogs, dogs used for breeding purposes or in lactating bitches has not been established. Studies to determine the activity of Rimadyl when administered concomitantly with other protein-bound drugs have not been conducted. Drug compatibility should be monitored closely in patients requiring additional therapy. Rimadyl is not recommended for use in dogs with bleeding disorders (e.g., Von Willebrand's Disease), as safety has not been established in dogs with these disorders.

Do not use in cats.

WARNING: Keep out of reach of children.

ADVERSE REACTIONS: During well-controlled investigational studies, no clinically significant adverse reactions were reported. Some clinical signs were observed during field studies which were similar for carprofen- and placebo-treated (control) dogs. Incidences of the following were observed in both groups: vomiting (4%), diarrhea (4%), changes in appetite (3%), lethargy (1.4%), behavioural changes (1%), and constipation (0.3%).

A listing of possible adverse reactions based on United States post-marketing field reports follows. The most frequently reported events have been mild gastrointestinal signs. Suspected renal, hematologic, neurologic, and dermatologic effects were also reported. Field reports often cannot provide sufficient information to establish cause of the signs observed. These observations, although rare (incidence less than 0.2%), are listed as alerting information.

Gastrointestinal: vomiting, diarrhea, inappetence, melena, hematemesis, gastrointestinal ulceration, jaundice, acute hepatic toxicity, hepatic enzyme elevation, abnormal liver function test(s), hyperbilirubinemia, hyperbilirubinuria, hypoalbuminemia. Approximately one-third of hepatic reports were in Labrador Retrievers.

Behavioural: Sedation, lethargy, hyperactivity, restlessness.

Renal: Hematuria, polyuria, polydypsia, urinary incontinence, urinary tract infection, azotemia, acute renal failure, tubular abnormalities including acute tubular necrosis, renal acidosis, glucosuria.

Neurologic: Ataxia, paresis, paralysis, seizures, vestibular signs, aggressiveness.

Hematologic: Immune-mediated hemolytic anemia, immune-mediated thrombocytopenia, blood loss anemia.

Dermatologic: Pruritis, increased shedding, alopecia, pyotraumatic moist dermatitis (hot spots), necrotizing panniculitis/vasculitis, ventral ecchymosis.

Allergic: Facial swelling, hives, erythema.

STORAGE: Store at a temperature between 15° and 30°C.

HOW SUPPLIED: Rimadyl caplets are scored, and contain 25 mg, 75 mg, or 100 mg of carprofen per caplet. Each caplet size is packaged in bottles containing 100 or 250 caplets.

THE EVERETT COLLECTION

Life Is Beautiful

Italian superstar Roberto Benigni became a household name around the world with this poignant 1997 drama that won him both Best Actor and Best Foreign Film Oscars at the Academy Awards. Deftly combining elements of slapstick humor with a heartbreakingly touching story, Benigni (who also directed and co-wrote the screenplay) stars as Guido, a mild-mannered Jewish bookstore owner with a loving wife (Benigni's real-life wife Nicoletta Braschi) and young son (Giorgio Cantarini). When the trio are rounded up and sent to a concentration camp, Guido decides to hide the horror of their situation from his son by using humor. He creates an elaborate game for the boy, where points are awarded for things like "not being hungry" and "not being afraid," and where the ultimate prize for the child's efforts is a giant tank. The cleverly laid out structure of the film — big laughs plus big tears — and the performances of its cast make for a wonderful movie about one man using laughter to overcome terrible pain. (2 hr.) Pour la Semaine de l'éducation, l'émission d'information revient sur les événements qui ont secoué la communauté franco-ontarienne dans les années 70. Cette décennie, marquée par un important combat des francophones de la province pour obtenir des écoles secondaires en français, a été ponctuée de grèves, protestations et occupations d'établissements. Dans le document «De la coupe aux lèvres», la journaliste Lucie Boileau s'est intéressée à quatre conflits de cette période. «J'ai retrouvé les principaux acteurs de ces crises successives, parents, leaders étudiants ou ministres, précise Lucie Boileau.» Un ancien élève anglophone, inscrit par son père dans une des premières écoles secondaires en français, a aussi témoigné. «Devenu parfaitement bilingue, il a revu des amis francophones qui étaient restés dans le système anglais, souligne Lucie Boileau, et il s'est aperçu qu'ils avaient perdu beaucoup de leur langue maternelle. Une langue se partage mais j'ai quelque chose qui leur appartient m'a-t-il dit.» (60 min) — Frédéric Vaillant

American Justice

Pat Allanson's story is not one of tragic love but rather a twisted tale of greed, deception and killing. In "Deadly Magnolia," host Bill Kurtis profiles the Atlanta southern belle who wanted to be like Scarlett O'Hara, but, unlike her heroine who used manipulation and lying to get her way, Allanson turned to murder. The documentary begins with the 1974 wedding of a naive Tom Allanson to his second wife, Pat, whom he saw as a delicate beauty. But his conservative parents refused to accept his remarriage and openly disapproved of their new daughter-in-law. Three months later, Allanson's in-laws were shot to death in their suburban Georgia home and their newlywed son was accused of the double homicide. Officers were baffled. Had his wife driven him to murder or was Pat as innocent as she acted? These tragic deaths marked the beginning of a killing spree that would involve relatives and strangers, mysterious illnesses and attempted murders, and convictions and releases. Romy and Michele's High School Reunion

Anyone who's ever thought "if only they could see me now!" will enjoy the network première of this 1997 comedy that finds Mira Sorvino (R) and Lisa Kudrow (L) co-starring as two misfits trying to reinvent themselves in time to impress their former classmates. Romy White (Sorvino) and Michele Weinberger (Kudrow) were outcasts as teenagers, relegated to the uncool table at lunchtime and made the butt of countless jokes by the more popular students at their high school. Cut to a decade later when the happily idealistic pair are stuck in dead-end jobs and taking life lessons from the movie Pretty Woman. After accidentally running into bitter fellow graduate Heather Mooney (Janeane Garofalo) and learning that their Alma Mater is holding its 10-year reunion, the dimwitted duo set out to create new, more impressive, personas for themselves. But their road to fake success is fraught with potholes, and their efforts to be accepted by the "in crowd" prove just as difficult as ever. (2 hr.) — Vickie Reichardt

Movies at a Glance

TV GUIDE rates movies excellent (★★★★), good (★★★), fair (★★) or poor (★). We do not evaluate movies (signified by an absence of symbols) if a rating might be premature or pointless, or if too few facts are known.
VCR ALERT! Please add sufficient time when taping late-night movies. Commercial time is usually undetermined at press time.

Which members of this family are most likely to be put to sleep* if they get sick or hurt?

Unfortunately, the two pals in the front row know who we're talking about. But there is a proven option for your pets. It offers comprehensive health, accident and illness coverage that allows you to say "Yes" when your pet needs help the most. We call it Pet Plan Insurance. Thousands of pet owners, and veterinarians, trust Pet Plan Insurance. Only Pet Plan has paid out over $20 million in claims to help save the lives of pets like yours. Get Pet Plan Insurance. Because your pets know you care.

Sadly the #1 killer of dogs and cats is the inability of the owner to pay for medical treatment.
