Your Day-By-Day Guide To The Week Ahead

That's a lot of calamari! Discovery and the Smithsonian go on a Quest for the Giant Squid

sunday

Quest for the Giant Squid, Discovery Does the fabled sea monster actually exist? For years, debate has raged as to whether the giant squid was real or in the same category as the Loch Ness Monster. Factual evidence, along with scientific analysis, suggests that the beast does, in fact, lurk deep in our oceans. This special, a co-production of Discovery and the Smithsonian, ventures off the coast of New Zealand in hopes of catching the creature in its deep-sea environment. (Note: If you enjoy this fare, stay tuned for Sea Serpents, which airs immediately following the broadcast.)

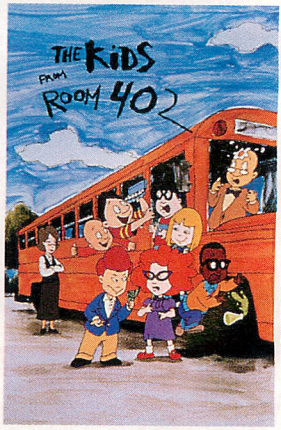

monday

Supernature Week, Discovery While it's true that Discovery practically invented the Theme Week style of programming (think Shark Week, Snake Week, Storm Week, etc.), we have to say that they may be reaching for it a bit with this week's connection. In trying to piece together something called Supernature Week, the channel has lined up documentaries on ESP, animal survival in harsh environments, animal perception of reality, a segment on the African elephant and the Ultimate Guide to Ants. Don't get us wrong, they're fascinating to watch, but we fail to see a real connection.

The Kids From Room 402, Teletoon This new toon will appeal to fans of Disney's Recess! and with good reason: Both are smartly scripted, expertly animated and from the same creative minds. Based on the book Gracie Graves and the Kids From Room 402, the stories centre on Miss Graves and her classroom of oddball children.

Access Hollywood's Top 10 of 2000, NBC Odd how Access Hollywood can determine the hottest entertainers of the year at only the midway point. The usual suspects are here – Tom, Julia, Britney, Bruce and Eddie – but the "winners" won't be announced until the show goes live tonight.

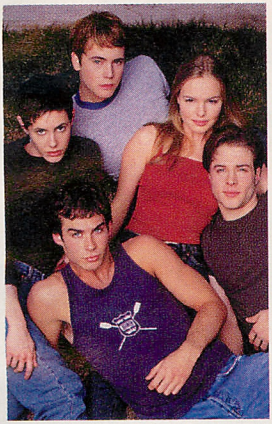

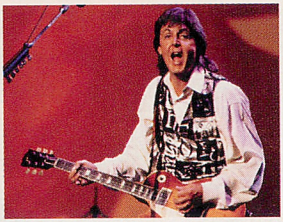

THE DISCOVERY CHANNEL TELETOON

Too cool for school: From the creators of Recess! comes The Kids From Room 402

Our pick? Gotta be Survivor's Gervase, a guy so slick he can walk between raindrops.

Paul McCartney Live at the Cavern Club, MuchMoreMusic If you missed its airing on the Internet and then on TV last December, this "Little Big Gig" is a must-see for Beatles fans. Returning to the Cavern (new building, same address) for the 281st time since the Fab Four got their start there, McCartney gets back with the classics, including a terrific rendition of "I Saw Her Standing There."

Young Americans, Global If it's fair to say that Dawson's Creek took Beverly Hills 90210 to a new level, then it's also fair to say that Young Americans one-ups the Creek in terms of sexual suggestion. Actually, this new series serves as something of a spinoff, with the main character, Will (Rodney Scott), recently portraying Pacey's friend on Dawson's Creek. The premise – which is really just the platter on which the soap (or cheese?) is served – has outsider Will making friends at a prestigious New England boarding school where the students are rich, ruthless and impossibly beautiful ... and, of course, that's just how we like them for a prime-time soap opera.

The Man Show, Comedy Introduce a show with no redeeming qualities whatsoever? That's the idea, sort of. Jimmy Kimmel (Win Ben Stein's Money) and Adam Carolla are the hosts for this beer-and-breast fest aimed at the average guy. B-celebs and one beach beauty after another. If you're a guy and have 30 minutes to kill on a Saturday night, by all means tune in. Otherwise, avoid The Man Show like the plague. Meanwhile, over on CBS, it's The 18th Annual Miss Teen USA Pageant. Both shows are basically for girl watching, yet only one comes even close to being socially acceptable.

SHOWCASE

Editor's Choice

The Ride (Sunday, Showcase) "It's not the destination, but the ride," says The Ride producer Arnie Zipursky about Showcase's first original TV-movie. "It's a story about humanity, about cab drivers who have a need to reach out and connect, a need we all share."

Thanks to its economic and tightly paced script, The Ride is a gritty piece of urban realism that deftly intertwines the lives of five diverse Toronto cab drivers into a superior Robert Altman-style mélange. The concept for The Ride – which began as a TV series entitled City Cab – originated over six years ago in the minds of Zipursky and co-producer Lawrence S. Mirkin, but was unable to secure a home on a traditional network. "It started at Global, then WIC, and then about a year ago, Showcase, which was looking to get into original adult dramatic programming, actually called us, asking us to pitch City Cab," gushes Zipursky about his labor of love. "They asked us if we could turn our four one-hour scripts into a two-hour movie. However, we said 'no.' We wanted to write a prequel. These characters had been living in our heads for five years, and although there was no cast attached, the writing came pretty easy."

The top-flight cast includes former Homicide: Life on the Street star Yaphet Kotto (above), who explains what attracted him to play Carter, a punch-drunk boxer with a secret past: "It was the writing, it was deep and insightful, and the reality in which the script was going to be shot had the same flavor of Life on the Street." And, because it wasn't on a major network, Kotto says he was free to develop his character in different ways. "I had this good-guy image from playing Giardello, so the major networks would never let me depart into this kind of psychological role. My character is kind of like Travis [Bickle] from Taxi Driver; you never know what he's gonna do."

While The Ride is bleak and often shockingly violent, it's also heartbreakingly sincere and unabashedly Canadian. – DARREN O'DONOGHUE

The Last Days of Disco (Grade: B+), Showcase Caustic writer-director Whit Stillman's keen ear for dialogue made Metropolitan and Barcelona critical hits and is used well in this 1998 commentary on the dying days of the hedonistic disco culture. Chloë Sevigny and Kate Beckinsale play recent college grads in the early 1980s who frequent a Studio 54-style nightclub. There's a sub-plot about money-laundering, but the real action is in the casual conversations.

Postcards From the Edge (B+), WTN Actress Carrie Fisher adapted the screenplay for this 1990 comedy from her own semi-autobiographical novel about a famous, but chemically dependent, actress (Meryl Streep) and her stormy relationship with her famous mother (Shirley MacLaine). Streep and MacLaine are a good match and do well with the script's caustic wit.

sunday

Stalag 17 (A), History William Holden won an Oscar for his portrayal of Sgt. Sefton, a cynical American in a German PoW camp, in this 1953 film. Well written, directed and acted, much of the action takes place within a barracks as the prisoners try to figure out who the traitor is among them.

thursday

Dr. Strangelove (A+), History If there's a perfect satire, this is it. Stanley Kubrick's 1964 black comedy captures all the Cold War paranoia of the mid-sixties and turns it on its head. Peter Sellers is brilliant in three roles: President Muffley, Dr. Strangelove and Capt. Mandrake, who discovers that a demented air force commander (Sterling Hayden) has set off a chain of events that will lead to total nuclear holocaust. TV GUIDE

Very little talent time

Bad acting pull downs a good story and, unfortunately, I Dreamed of Africa (Grade: C) and The Next Best Thing (C+) both suffer at the hands of their leads.

I Dreamed of Africa is the true story of Kuki Gallmann (Kim Basinger) who, in the early 1970s, moves her family from Italy to Kenya. Going from piazza to the plains proves difficult for the clan as they encounter more than their share of hardship, including animal attacks and wild weather. But aside from the breathtaking landscape, the film offers little insight into its characters or any true sense of drama. Basinger delivers a painfully wooden performance, and equally trite voice-overs detract from the impact of Gallmann's personal journey. I Dreamed of Africa could have soared. Instead, it sputters and never really gets off the ground.

PARAMOUNT PICTURES ©2000 WARNER BROS. ALLIANCE ATLANTIS

The Next Best Thing, starring Madonna and her buddy Rupert Everett, doesn't fare much better. They co-star as Abbie and Robert, a yoga instructor and her gay best friend, who find themselves unlikely parents after a drunken night of passion. Unfortunately, Madonna's persona is too big for the role of "everymom," and she has trouble reining in. Ditto for Everett, whose performance veers dangerously close to over-the-top in this vanity project for the Material Girl. TV GUIDE

Any Given Sunday (C-) is Oliver Stone's testosterone-laden tribute to the wild world of professional football. Al Pacino, Cameron Diaz and Jamie Foxx co-star in a film so dizzyingly frenetic that viewers may want to stock up on some motion-sickness medication before they hit "play."

Princess Mononoke (B+), is a surprisingly thoughtful animation-offering that follows a young warrior who embarks on a journey to seek healing from a great spirit. The film offers a strong pro-environmental theme about humans living in peace with nature, and features the voices of stars such as Minnie Driver, Claire Danes, Billy Bob Thornton and Gillian Anderson, among others.

In the line of fire

Intelligent television drama is a rare beast. In this era of short attention span programming, any drama series that credits its audience with more than an ounce of wit is truly noteworthy.

Showcase comes to the rescue with the third series of the taut crime drama Touching Evil (Sunday), featuring one of the hottest actors on British TV, Robson Green.

Best known to Canadian viewers as the romantic lead in the mini-series Reckless, Green plays a troubled police detective whose unorthodox, intuitive approach to crime-solving frequently annoys his colleagues and literally places him in the direct line of fire. Detective Creegan's drive to "right the world" is motivated by a need to address his own inner demons. The bullet wound in his forehead is worn like a trademark.

In Series 3, Creegan defies orders by returning to work prematurely after a nervous breakdown, becoming far more emotionally involved in his cases than his mental well-being will allow.

The grisly subject matter is overshadowed by an intelligent script that refuses to spoon-feed, while viewers unfamiliar with the series will not get lost. Prepare to be snared. (As a bonus, the first two seasons of Touching Evil will air in the same Sunday-afternoon timeslot in subsequent weeks).

And here's more good news for Robson Green fans. His 1998 series Grafters, in which he's equally well cast as a cheeky, short-of-cash construction worker, will enjoy its Canadian première on Saturday (Showcase). Our blue-eyed hero plays the fly-by-the-seat-of-his-pants older brother to Ballykissangel's Stephen Tompkinson (Father Peter), who is easily led astray by his carefree sibling. Unemployment forces the pair to leave their Newcastle home in search of work in London. They learn that blood is indeed thicker than mortar after bluffing their way into a major home renovation job for which neither is qualified.

Also from across the pond, the witty gay drama series Queer as Folk gets a well-deserved encore screening in a prime-time slot (Mondays on Showcase). And on Coronation Street (CBC), Sam the builder is exposed as Sam the stripper as the women of Weatherfield gather at the pub for the ladies-only strip night. It's a huge hit.

CFL: Montreal at B.C. (Thursday, TSN) Regardless of what many people think, the CFL isn't on its last legs. In fact, the league is expected to grow by one team next year, as a yet-to-be-named franchise will be returning to Ottawa. What's more, the Montreal Alouettes have been revitalized since moving to Molson Stadium, and the football spirit is alive and well in the Prairies. The league's only black mark has been the off-field circus in Toronto (disproving the theory that the CFL would collapse without a Toronto team, because it's debatable whether they even have one now).

Then there's the coverage provided by TSN: Production values remain high and the network has added the much-needed first-down marker for Friday-night telecasts. And the pre-game show, hosted by James Duthie and former CFL players Chris Schultz and Matt Dunigan and ex-Toronto GM Eric Tillman, provides expert analysis, humor and opinion. These guys really love the CFL, and it shows.

U.S. Open Tennis, TSN Why is it that tennis broadcasts are riddled with camera shots of family members, coaches and significant others? Pete Sampras won his record-setting 13th Grand Slam at Wimbledon, but his fiancée, actress Bridget Wilson, got more air time than Sampras himself. If the favorites dominate over the next two weeks in New York, we'll be bombarded with images of Wilson, Steffi Graf and Richard Williams, Venus and Serena's off-the-wall father.

Pete & Andre's Guerrilla Tennis, CTV Sportsnet This documentary has aired several times before on Sportsnet, but it's worth another mention because of the bizarre description provided to us by Sportsnet: "Pete Sampras and Andre Agassi get up close and personal ... with each other." Golf: Battle at Bighorn, Global, ABC Golf goes live in prime time again as Sergio Garcia and Tiger Woods meet at Bighorn Golf Club in Indio, Calif. Last August's inaugural showdown, featuring Woods and David Duval, was the second-highest-rated golf telecast of 1999. The novelty may have worn off this made-for-TV format already, but the charismatic Garcia may bring out the best in the ultra-competitive Woods.

Seeing double

Days of Our Lives fans are seeing double these days – and it's not the first time. The hit soap is slowly introducing a wacky new character, Hattie Adams, who bears a striking resemblance to Dr. Marlena Evans, the heroine played by Deidre Hall. Hattie, furious that her favorite radio talk-show host has been replaced by Marlena, will become insanely vengeful (expect one of Days' famous switcheroo plots!). The role is played by Hall's real-life twin, Andrea Hall Gengler, who was occasionally seen on Days in the late '70s and early '80s as Marlena's twin sister, Samantha. That character was killed by the Salem Strangler in 1982 and, since then, Gengler has stayed away from the limelight and from Hollywood, spending recent years in Virginia Beach, Va., where she teaches children with disabilities.

Marlena Evans (Deidre Hall) becomes the focus of a very familiar-looking stranger

"I've never entertained the thought of becoming a full-time actress," says Gengler. "The struggle to make a living in that field just isn't for me. When I was killed off the soap, I thought that was it forever. I'm excited about returning to Days, but also very nervous. People say, 'Andrea, relax, this is going to be a cakewalk for you!' But, for me, it's like knowing I've got an appointment with the dentist." Her superstar sister was integral in setting up the gig.

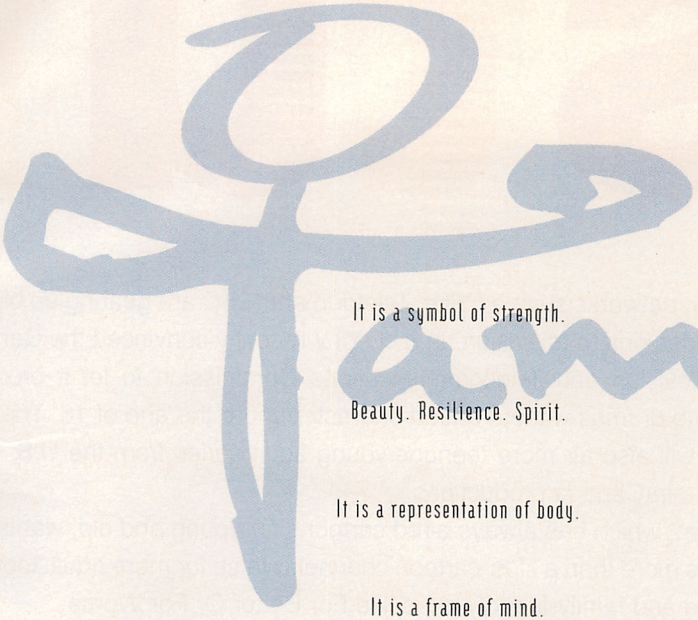

"Teachers are underpaid and actors are overpaid," says Hall. "The last time Andrea was here, she paid off her college loan and had an amazing time, so I figured, why shouldn't she do it again? The role is supposed to last six to eight weeks, but if she's well received, we'll make some adjustments." TV GUIDE

In Other News

The one-year-old Passions is experiencing major cast trouble: Teen stars Mary Elizabeth Winstead and Taylor Anne Mountz – who played sisters Jessica and Kay Bennett – have been replaced, respectively, by newcomers Jade Harlow and Gina Marie May. Winstead left when producers wanted to switch her from contract to recurring status, while Mountz, according to NBC, left to go to college. Maureen McCormick (Brady Bunch), who played Rebecca Hotchkiss for 10 shows, reportedly wanted too much money to remain and has been replaced by soap veteran Andrea Evans (most recently of The Bold and the Beautiful). Auditions have also been held to replace wildly popular Josh Ryan Evans, who plays Timmy. The 18-year-old has failed to show up for work on several occasions, and Passions execs want to be prepared if they have to replace him.

This year, networks such as YTV, Teletoon and CBC are gearing up big-time to lure older kids to television. In fact, YTV recently convinced the Canadian Radio-television and Telecommunications Commission to let it broadcast prime-time dramas without a lead character under the age of 18. The cable network will also air more teenage/young adult series from the U.S. with a few made-in-Canada productions.

Teletoon, which has always aired cartoons for young and old, wants to be known as more than a kids' cartoon channel. Watch for more adult 'toons like Pond Life and family-friendly ones like For Better Or For Worse.

At the CBC, which is adding 500 more hours of kids' shows this season, the network also hopes to attract six- to 12-year-olds because they are "a very strong and very critical audience," according to Adrian Mills, head of programming.

With all this in mind, TV Guide takes a look at children's and family programming this season.

Kids' classic Clifford comes to TV

© CBC

PRE-SCHOOL

Clifford: The Big Red Dog (September, check listings, PBS; weekdays, Oct. 2, CBC) A favorite since Norman Bridwell's first book was published in 1963, now Clifford's got his own animated TV show. There are a few changes from the books. Clifford (voiced by John Ritter) and Emily Elizabeth and her parents now live on an island, and he has two new dog pals, T-Bone, the slobbering bulldog, and

By Catherine Dawson

Cleo, the fearless poodle. Clifford is worry-free TV with each half-hour weaving in such Girl Guide themes as sharing, fair play, helping others and being truthful and kind.

Maggie, Hamilton the pig and the not-so Ferocious Beast

Maggie and the Ferocious Beast (Weekends, Aug. 26, Teletoon) Maggie's polka-dotted beast looks like a brighter-colored version of the monsters from the classic book Where the Wild Things Are. This beast, however, is always helping Maggie and her pig pal Hamilton out of silly scrapes in this pleasant series based on the book by Michael and Betty Paraskevas.

The Toy Castle (Mondays and Sundays, Sept. 4, Treehouse) Dancers from the Royal Winnipeg Ballet make up the cast of this live-action fantasy. A ballerina, soldier, china doll and sailor are among the characters that come to life once their young owners are asleep. Brightly colored costumes, constant movement and short and sweet storylines will keep young ones entertained.

Wanna Play? (Weekdays, Sept. 4, Treehouse) Parents will want to catch these three-minute segments which explain the rules for all those forgotten children's games, like hopscotch, leapfrog, sardines, skipping rhymes and marbles.

Chip 'n Orbit (Weekdays, Sept. 11, YTV) It's never too early to get hooked on game shows. Chip and Orbit are CGI-animated hosts who challenge youngsters to solve puzzles, recognize sounds or play Spot the Difference and What Is It? No word yet on a guest appearance by Regis Philbin.

AGES 6 to 12

For Better Or For Worse (Weekends, Sept. 16, Teletoon) This is a show the entire family will enjoy as the Pattersons make a 16-episode commitment thanks to good ratings for the strip's occasional holiday specials. Each episode contains three segments, with stories from the early, middle and later years of Patterson family life.

Buzz Lightyear of Star Command (Oct. 14, CTV/ABC; October on Family) Toy Story's Buzz fights intergalactic evil with his crew of faithful Space Rangers in this cartoon. Instead of a spinoff, it's being billed as a prequel, since it features the TV show that inspired the Buzz Lightyear action figure. Patrick Warburton (Seinfeld) voices Buzz and another Seinfeld alumnus, Wayne Knight, voices his arch-enemy, the Evil Emperor Zurg.

CBCNews.Real (Weekdays, Oct. 2, CBC) Aimed at ages eight and up, this five-minute newscast is designed to make kids aware of what's going on in the world. Hosted by Kristina Barnes, 26, and Ken Lima-Coelho, 29, it's also supposed to help kids deconstruct TV news. In addition to daily headlines, the hosts will explain how news stories are chosen and produced.

Buzz gets a series

Lynn Johnston's strip For Better Or For Worse

Action Man (Aug. 19, Fox; Aug. 27, then moves to Thursdays, YTV) Watching this made-in-Canada CGI cartoon is like watching a video game at full tilt. Alex Mann is Action Man, an extreme-sports competitor who can predict future events by calculating the probable math-like outcomes of all possible actions. But don't be fooled, however. Action Man is no geek. This fast-paced series will likely appeal primarily to boys, although girls may tune in since the computer-generated Action Man is pretty hunky.

Yvon of the Yukon (Sept. 3, then moves to Thursdays, YTV) Upyermukluk, Yukon, is a quiet town until 300-year-old explorer Yvon Ducharme is defrosted by an Inuit teenager and his dog. Yvon's got a lot to catch up on, and the stubborn Frenchman manages to get himself into some peculiar situations in this cute Canadian series.

TELETOON FAMILY CHANNEL YTV

Cardcaptors (Weekends, Teletoon) From the makers of Sailor Moon, this latest import from Japan will also capture the imagination of young girls. Sakura is an ordinary Rollerblading 10-year-old whose life changes when she grabs an old tome off her father's bookshelf and releases hundreds of tarot-like cards. Sakura is then instilled with the magic powers she'll need to recapture them all. Expect Cardcaptors collector cards and other essential paraphernalia to show up in time for Christmas.

It's Pokémon meets Sailor Moon for Cardcaptors' Sakura

don't send them to their rooms; make them watch this series instead! Each half-hour features bad kids who get what they deserve. In this silly animated series, there's Nigel, who regrets his cruelty to spiders when he is shrunk to fly size. And what about Alex? He never wants to go to bed, until his eyelids are peeled off and he can't sleep at all.

Eckhart (Sept. 8, Teletoon) This series is a spinoff of last year's Christmas special, The True Meaning of Crumbfest. The little mouse is still waiting for his long-lost adventurer dad to return home, but in the meantime learns about life by exploring his own world.

TinTin (Oct. 7, CBC) Aimed at the older end of this age group, the first thing that strikes about this series is the gunplay. TinTin, the young Belgian reporter who's been solving crimes for 60 years, is often shot at and sometimes hit, and he even aims a piece at the bad guys himself. TinTin's adventures are a lot meatier and more exciting than most cartoons, but it is disconcerting to see so many handguns in one half-hour episode.

YOUNG ADULT

2 Hour Tour (Sunday, Sept. 3, Family) Struggling young bands get their big break from superstars like Christina Aguilera, Enrique Iglesias, 98°, the Moffatts and Savage Garden in this 13-episode, half-hour series. The attraction here isn't the newbie bands, but the interviews with and performance clips of the bona fide stars as they audition these groups.

TinTin and Snowy on another case

Downtown (Sept. 13, YTV) Wow. The characters in this MTV import are sure different from what YTV viewers are used to. Set in Manhattan, Downtown follows the lives of Goat, 26, whose "behavior is outrageous, especially when fueled by booze," and Fruity, 18, "an obvious horndog" who is "always on the hunt for chicks and he is not very picky." Then there's Chaka, 17, who spends a lot of time "scamming her underage self into places she shouldn't." Still, late teen and twentysomething viewers will probably enjoy the show's dark animation, lively soundtrack and pop-culture dialogue.

Pelswick (Oct. 2, CBC) Bart Simpson in a wheelchair: That's how this new animated character is unofficially being described. But 11-year-old troublemaker Pelswick Eggert is no offspring of Homer. Pelswick uses his chair to get into faceoffs with seniors and to scam his way into shows, but he hates being a poster boy for disabled rights. Created by Pulitzer Prize-winning author John Callahan, Pelswick is fun, even if the jerky animation makes it a bit difficult to watch.

PRE-SCHOOL

Polkaroo's Awesome ABC's (Weekdays, Sept. 4) Polkaroo celebrates his 30th birthday and kids still can't get enough. In these new segments, Polkaroo and Marigold help kids learn the alphabet.

Let's Wiggle (Weekdays, Sept. 4) A big hit in Australia, the Wiggles are a singing foursome ready to conquer Canadian shores. They'll definitely get kids jumping around the room with simple, silly songs and easy-to-follow dance moves.

Yoho Ahoy! (Weekdays, Sept. 4) Some are calling this BBC series a show to rival the Teletubbies. The five-minute segments feature colorful baby pirates who only speak two words: "Yoho!" and "Ahoy!" Hopelessly lost at sea, daily life on the pirate ship The Rubber Duck is a fun mix of wonder and comedy.

AGES 6 to 11

Anne: The Animated Series (Monday to Thursday, Sept. 4; also airing on PBS, check listings) Canada's favorite redhead and her friends turn up in this new series. Produced by Sullivan Entertainment, it will also include characters from Road to Avonlea. Most of the plots are original, but a few classic Anne mishaps survive from the novels.

Anne gets animated

The Longhouse Tales (Sunday, Sept. 4; APTN Oct. 3) Tom Jackson (North of 60) plays a storyteller in this series based on aboriginal mythology. Jackson hangs out in the home of Tyconderoga, a turkey who likes to edit his stories. Incredible-looking puppets illustrate each story.

The kids of Allen Strange

YOUNG ADULT

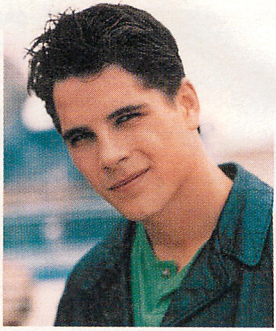

The Journey of Allen Strange (Monday to Thursday, Sept. 4) Allen Strange is an alien stranded on Earth, where he takes the guise of a teenager and hides out in Robbie and Josh's attic until he can find a way to get home.

Standing rib roast Scott Vickaryous-style

As a young actor in Hollywood, Scott Vickaryous learned the hard way that you eventually have to learn to cook for yourself. The handsome British Columbia native, who had a breakout role last season on the critically acclaimed (but short-lived) Fox drama Get Real, admits that he's just recently begun to find his way around the kitchen since moving to L.A. four years ago. "My problem is I hate to cook for myself because I'm super, super lazy," he says sheepishly. "But I do love cooking for other people." Especially for the special lady in his life. "A romantic dinner in front of the fire is my idea of a perfect date."

Growing up near Edmonton, Vickaryous, 24, participated in numerous sports. He competed nationally and internationally in freestyle and Greco-Roman wrestling, winning several championships in the process. Vickaryous also played wide receiver for the Edmonton Wildcats, but like any good Canadian boy, was also an avid hockey player. "I go back as often as I can. I miss everything about Canada."

Roasting Beef Facts

1. A standing rib roast, also known as a prime rib, is a seven-boned cut from just behind the shoulder. When buying your roast, allow 10-12 ounces (280-370g) per person, or 2-3 servings per rib.

2. There are two schools of thought on how to roast beef. One sears the meat quickly in a hot oven, then reduces the temperature. This method gives a much crisper, browner outside. The second cooks the roast at a constant lower temperature, which means the meat is more apt to be an even color throughout. If you would prefer to sear the roast, make sure to turn up the temperature during the last 15 minutes of cooking.

Vickaryous' first big exposure came a few years back on the teen series Breaker High, which still airs in syndication in several Canadian markets. "It was a dream show and good training for me," says Vickaryous, who portrayed Max. "Without paying my dues on that show, there's no way I would have ever gotten the job on Get Real."

Today, when Vickaryous does get time to cook for himself, he's likely to toss some prime-cut sirloin steak onto the barbecue for a simple but effective cookout. And when he gets especially adventurous, he'll likely opt for a pasta dish, like a home-made lasagna or simple spaghetti. "Pasta is always nice and easy to make – even for me, there's almost no way to screw it up," he says. "Plus, you always have some left over that you can microwave the next day." TV GUIDE

Standing Rib Roast

Preheat the oven to 325 F (160 C). Place roast, fat side up, in a shallow pan. You can put the roast in the oven directly from the refrigerator. You don't need to bring it to room temperature first.

Season the roast and insert a meat thermometer, the surest guide for cooking time, into the thickest part of the roast, making sure the tip of the thermometer does not touch a bone.

Remove roast from oven when thermometer shows temperature has reached 5 F (2.5 C) below desired doneness. Tent with foil; let stand 15 minutes before carving.

Cook according to the following guide:

RARE: 18-20 minutes/lb, 40-45/minutes/kg: Internal temperature: 140 F (60 C)

MEDIUM RARE: 20-22 minutes/lb, 45-50 minutes/kg: Internal temperature: 150 F (70 C)

MEDIUM: 25 minutes/lb, 55 minutes/kg: Internal temperature: 160 F (75 C)

WELL DONE: 30 minutes/lb, 65 minutes/kg: Internal temperature: 170 F (80 C)

SEASONING A ROAST: Never salt a roast before cooking, as it tends to draw the juice out and toughen the outside cut. For a variety of flavors, we recommend these exciting seasoning options. The amount of each ingredient used depends on individual taste:

Garlic Slivers: With the tip of a knife, cut slits all over roast; insert garlic slivers and roast.

Dijon Mustard: Spread mustard all over top and sides of roast before cooking.

Mustard-herb coat: Coat the roast with mustard and sprinkle with a combination of favorite herbs and seasonings, such as crushed peppercorns, basil, thyme and oregano.

PER 90 G SERVING (LEAN ONLY): 198 CALORIES, 26 G PROTEIN, 10 G FAT, 0 G CARBOHYDRATE.

Oven-Baked Fries

6 cups/1.5 L	potato wedges* (about 2 lb/1 kg)
2 tbsp/25 mL	olive oil
2	cloves garlic, minced (optional)
	salt and pepper

Cut potatoes in eighths. In large plastic bag, toss potato wedges with oil and garlic. Place in large shallow baking dish. Bake uncovered in 325 F (160 C) oven for 45 to 60 minutes or until fork-tender, turning once. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Makes 6 servings.

*Use any kind of potato, peeled or unpeeled.

PER SERVING (SKIN ON, WITHOUT GARLIC): 181 CALORIES, 3 G PROTEIN, 4 G FAT, 34 G CARBOHYDRATE.

Finally, no scrubbing or rinsing.

We humbly suggest another use for your kitchen sink.

The All-American TV family: Growing Pains cast, l-r: Miller, Gold, Cameron, Johnson, Kerns, Thicke, DiCaprio

For seven years, the Seavers were television's all-American family. But on August 27, 1992, they made their last appearance on prime-time TV. (A reunion special is slated for the fall.)

Canadian Alan Thicke starred as psychiatrist Jason Seaver, who moved his practice home so that wife Maggie (Joanna Kerns) could go back to work. Mike (Kirk Cameron) was the eldest son, a slacker who was more interested in chasing girls than hitting the books. Carol (Tracey Gold) was just the opposite. As a perennial bookworm, she had a reputation as the naive geek. Ben (Jeremy Miller) was the youngest, until Chrissy came along in 1988. Thanks to the magic of television, she grew into a precocious six-year-old (Ashley Johnson) in just two seasons.

By series end, Cameron's character matured into a young teacher and sometimes-actor. Even though he was an unknown when the series debuted, Cameron became a teen heartthrob, receiving more than 10,000 fan letters a month.

Like many of the cast, Cameron has rarely been seen since. He starred in a now-defunct WB sitcom, Kirk, that aired for just two seasons. However, his on-screen Growing Pains romance with Chelsea Noble turned into a real-life union, and the pair now have four children.

You'll be more likely to find Kerns in the role of director these days, but she did appear as Winona Ryder's mother in Girl, Interrupted. Thicke took his shot at another sitcom with Hope & Gloria, but that didn't last. Gold, who took a leave from the show in late 1991-92, following a highly publicized battle with anorexia, is now married with two children. Miller said that he's ready to flex his acting muscles and recently appeared in a sci-fi pilot.

The show's most famous face is Leonardo DiCaprio, who played Luke for two seasons. TV Guide

Fast Facts

1. Matthew Perry guest-starred as Carol's boyfriend Sandy who was killed in a drunk-driving accident.

2. A few other famous faces made guest stints, including Oscar winner Hilary Swank, Brad Pitt, Jennie Garth, Brian Austin Green, Jane Powell and Gordon Jump.

3. The series spawned a spinoff, Just the Ten of Us, featuring Mike's gym teacher, Coach Lubbock. Jamie Luner (Profiler) starred.

DIRTY LATIN DANCING

I have been hearing rumors that there is going to be a sequel to Dirty Dancing with possible actors Ricky Martin and Natalie Portman. Really?

JENNIFER LITTLE, CHARLOTTETOWN

Artisan Entertainment announced at the Cannes Film Festival in May that they were developing a Latin music-inspired sequel, but no one has been cast yet. The producers said Martin and Portman would be their ideal leads, which means anyone could get the parts.

ALOHA HIGGINS, T.C. AND RICK

I have been watching Magnum, P.I. in reruns. When did the show run; what happened to Tom Selleck's co-stars; and did we find out who Robin Masters was?

MARLENE FISHER, LONDON, ONT.

Magnum and co. fought crime from 1980-88. John Hillerman (Higgins), Roger E. Mosley (T.C.) and Larry Manetti (Rick) kept acting, but none has had any high-profile roles. In the final episode, viewers were left hanging, so we'll never know if Higgins was Masters.

Update

by Brian Hartigan

CASTING CALLS

• Fresh out of prison for drug-related offences, Robert Downey Jr. (right) has inked a deal for a recurring role on Ally McBeal this season as a possible love interest for Ally.

• Oscar-winner Sally Field will appear on six episodes of ER this season as the estranged mother of Maura Tierney's character.

• Rapper-actor Ice-T (who penned the controversial song "Cop Killer") has joined the cast of Law & Order: Special Victims Unit as, of all things, a detective.

• Canadian comedian Harland Williams (Rocketman) has been signed to co-star in ABC and CTV's new sitcom The Geena Davis Show as her co-worker.

• Jack Wagner (Melrose Place) joins the cast of Aaron Spelling's new prime-time soap Titans as a brother of Perry King's character.

• Gregory Harrison (Trapper John, M.D.) joins the cast of NBC's new fall drama Ed.

• Look for Judy Davis to portray Judy Garland in the upcoming ABC mini-series Me and My Shadows, currently filming in Toronto.

IN DEVELOPMENT

• Production will begin soon in Toronto for the NBC TV-movie Angel on My Shoulder about the life and career of singer Natalie Cole, daughter of Nat "King" Cole.

• NBC is developing a midseason series called News From the Edge about a tabloid reporter who discovers that the unexplained stories that are published in the magazine are all true.

RUMOR MILL

• Even though her rumored deal to guest-star on Dawson's Creek in the 1999-2000 season didn't pan out, indications are that pop singer Britney Spears (left) will more than likely appear on Buffy the Vampire Slayer this season.

• According to an article in Variety, the fate of cult favorite La Femme Nikita (aka Nikita) may not be sealed after all. The trade magazine reports that the show's distributor and its U.S. network, USA cable, may be looking to get one more season out of the show.

Soap Box

As the World Turns Lily and Simon's plan for escape ends in disaster. Isaac strikes a deal with Ben. Holden receives the surprise of his life as he conducts a search for his missing wife. Carly makes a desperate plea to Jack.

Guiding Light Holly and Billy head out on their adventure. Vicky proves she is an asset to Spaulding. After once questioning Josh's parenting skills, Reva shares her regrets with him.

Passions Kay keeps Chad and Whitney apart. Julian storms into Sheridan's cottage. Charity has a premonition that someone is going to die. Ethan makes a shocking announcement. Gwen walks in on Ethan holding Theresa in the hospital. Later, Rebecca learns that Ethan kissed Theresa. Sheridan reveals to Luis the truth about his father.

The Young and the Restless Nina returns home and faces a decision that will have huge implications on her relationship with Tomas. Victoria and Gary come face to face. Victoria is furious when she discovers that Diane has been artificially inseminated with Victor's sperm – and she wants Diane out of the house now! Sex-crazy Phyllis shows up at Michael's pad with a catered dinner and presents herself as dessert. The results of Chris's pregnancy test finally come in.

Women Making Waves

The path taken by athletes to the Olympics is often just as challenging as the Games themselves. For Canada's women's water-polo team, it has been even more difficult. This CBC-produced documentary follows a year in the life of these remarkable women. With just six spots available in Sydney, they will compete for their country as water polo makes its women's Olympic debut. Viewers meet many of the players, including co-captain Waneek Horn-Miller, a Mohawk who fought back from near-death after her participation in the 1990 Oka standoff. The team also consists of veteran Marie-Claude Deslieres, a mother of three, and captain Cora Campbell, who displays the leadership expected from a captain in any sport. There is also a profile of coach Daniel Berthelette, who led the team in Montreal for the last two and a half years against such foes as the rival Americans, the aggressive Italians and home-town Olympic favorites, the Australians. The Canadians face the United States first on Day Two of the Olympics. See the Sept. 16 issue of TV Guide for full Olympic coverage details. Host: Mark Lee. — Angela Hill

With the 2000 Summer Olympics fast approaching, thousands of athletes are gearing up for their chance to win a gold medal. But will they all have an even playing field? "Dying to Win" explores the use of performance-enhancing drugs around the globe. The program offers a better insight into why so many competitors are willing to take drugs to give them an advantage. It also looks at how drug use in sports has risen over the years, and how sophisticated the illicit substances have become. For example, erythropoietin, the most popular stamina-boosting drug used today, is virtually undetectable by urine tests currently used for the Olympics. The extreme measures some trainers will take to provide athletes with narcotics may come as a surprise. Also astonishing is how many contenders are able to get away with cheating. Through interviews with athletes, doctors and IOC officials, this documentary illustrates the all-encompassing consequences of performance-enhancing drugs. (60 min.) — Simone A. Brown

Angela Anaconda

Return: The name isn't the only unusual thing about this show. It's also quite an eyeful. But the unique animation style, which combines digital effects and two-dimensional cut-out collage-type characters, complete with oversized heads and lifelike faces, is just part of this cartoon's charm. Most of the appeal comes from the quirky title character herself. Angela is a quick-witted schoolgirl whose sassy confidence, colorful logic and dynamic vocabulary get her into plenty of trouble, especially when it comes to her nemesis, the rich and snobby Nanette Manoir. While kids get a kick out of Angela's twisted imagination and parents appreciate her intelligent problem solving, this spirited underdog and her wacky gang of nerdy pals appeal to all ages. It's not surprising that Angela heads into her second season with a Daytime Emmy nomination and a growing number of fans. Tonight, Angela faces off against Nanette in the annual bike race and goes crime fighting with her dad. — Stephanie Kus

A Time of Love and War

This touching memoir chronicles a friendship forged by a chance meeting and maintained through 11 years of letter writing. A simple encounter led Martha Aguilar (L) and Sabrina Mathews on an adventure as friends. As a young woman seeking excitement, Sabrina volunteered to paint a mural at the coffee farm in Nicaragua where Martha was working and a bond formed between these two women from vastly different worlds. As an artist, Sabrina's life was surrounded by scholars and poets; Martha grew up under extremely poor conditions in revolutionary Nicaragua. The letters began when Martha moved to Ukraine to study. Through their correspondence, the women helped each other during the roughest times of their lives. When Martha had to leave her baby daughter in the care of an orphanage, Sabrina smuggled money to her friend so she could keep her child. Political and economic turmoil drew two strangers from across the globe together to become each other's strength and counsel for over 11 years. (60 min.) — Patricia Checchia
