"Thank God for The Salvation Army"

"The Salvation Army is reality. It's unconditional love. It's acceptance. It's the Biblical church, where they care for the poor, the widow and the homeless.

"Sometimes I'd go to The Salvation Army when I was recording my last album. Sitting with the street people was intense. The line disappeared between those who came for help and those, like me, who just turned up. I realized how much the same we all are.

Ladyhawke (Grade: B-) Space Released in 1985, Ladyhawke is simply a love story about a knight (Rutger Hauer) separated from his beloved (Michelle Pfeiffer) by a jealous bishop's curse. Hingeing more on strong performances and less on special effects, the film co-stars Matthew Broderick.

Bonfire of the Vanities (D) Showcase Brian De Palma's 1990 drama is the perfect example of a great book that is ruined on the big screen because of miscasting. An adaptation of Tom Wolfe's best-seller about greed in the 1980s, the film stars the always-likable Tom Hanks as the unlikable Wall Street investor Sherman McCoy. Equally miscast are Melanie Griffith as a Southern gold-digger and Bruce Willis as a conniving journalist.

Gibson learns about women

In What Women Want (Grade: B+), Nick Marshall (Mel Gibson) is a suave ad exec who has everything going for him – he's handsome, talented, has a way with women and he's on his way to the top. That is until Darcy McGuire (Helen Hunt), a female advertising genius, swoops in and steals his promotion. When a freak accident enables Marshall to hear what women are thinking, he uses his new-found sixth sense to his advantage by undermining McGuire in her job. But, Marshall soon finds that learning what women want from men will help him become a better father, friend and companion.

Helen Hunt and Mel Gibson (top) in What Women Want; Paltrow croons in Duets

Companionship of another kind takes place when six strangers meet in Duets (B-). A karaoke contest with a $5,000 prize brings together teams consisting of a recently reunited karaoke-singing father and daughter (Oscar-winner Gwyneth Paltrow and Huey Lewis), a burnt-out business man (Paul Giamatti), an escaped convict (Andre Braugher), a cab driver (Scott Speedman), and an aspiring singer (Maria Bello). Directed by Paltrow's real-life father, Bruce, this ensemble-cast movie looks at people trying to improve their lives. One memorable scene features former '80s pop star Lewis and Paltrow (who really sings in this flick) pairing up to sing Smokey Robinson's classic hit "Cruisin'." TV GUIDE

It's a good time for Julia Barr. Nominated for her eighth Daytime Emmy, the sixth in the leading actress category, she's also set to celebrate 25 years this June as All My Children's Brooke English.

This year, her Emmy running mates include co-stars Susan Lucci, (Erica), and Marcy Walker, (Liza). "This is the first year I can remember when there have been more than two [nominations] in the same category from the same show," notes Barr.

Though the current storyline for this strawberry-blond beauty has been slow, Barr is predicting the speed will begin to pick up soon. "I'm going to be doing some dramatic stuff involving Brooke and Erica together."

Let the good times roll: Julia Barr of All My Children

It will be interesting for daytime fans to see these legendary ladies acting opposite each other, predicts Barr. "Erica's daughter, Bianca, and my adopted daughter, Laura, are friends," she hints. "Laura gets into trouble and since our two characters are first and foremost mothers, they bond for a period of time."

Although Brooke has had countless love affairs over the years, Barr is hoping for more. "People who sign my Web site guest book continually ask me, 'When is Brooke going to have some happiness, some joy, some romance?' I ask myself the same question!" TV Guide

Learning and laughing

Ni Ni's Treehouse (Weekdays, 11 a.m., 5 p.m., 8 p.m. ET, Treehouse TV), which aired in Canada last January, uses a mix of live-action puppets, animation and computer-generated images to explore topics such as sharing and emotional relationships in ways that also build cognitive skills in children two to five years of age.

Voted one of the 10 Best New Kids' Shows when it debuted in the U.S., this half-hour show for pre-schoolers follows the adventures of a squirrel named Ni Ni and his friends, Horace the Hippo, Ooopagogo, and the Treezle Twins in Oooberryland.

The show is the co-creation of the U.K.-based broadcaster GMTV and The itsy bitsy Entertainment Co., which also produces It's itsy bitsy time! and Teletubbies. Toronto-based executive producer, Joan Lambur says the idea was to provide a non-threatening environment for pre-schoolers. Lambur also wanted to return to more educational values. That's not to say this is a dull televisual rendition of the three Rs.

"We want to make sure kids are laughing," says Lambur, adding, "For two-, three- and four-year-olds, laughing is their favorite thing." TV Guide

Modern times

The BBC, veteran producer of classic, period-piece drama, is officially broadening its scope to include adaptations of contemporary, 20th-century literature. One of the first productions, Take a Girl Like You (PBS, this month, check local listings), is based on the 1960 autobiographical novel by Kingsley Amis about dating, mating and sexual awakening in 1950s England.

Relative newcomer, Sienna Guillory, stars as a naive schoolteacher wooed by a slew of suitors, not the least of whom includes her schoolmaster (Rupert Graves, The Tenant of Wildfell Hall) and a lecherous landlord (Robert Daws, The House of Eliott).

The most contemporary BBC offering, however, plays out in the locker rooms of a Yorkshire women's soccer club. Despite a lightweight premise, the weekly drama series Playing the Field (Sunday, May 20, WTN) tackles an ambitious spectrum of emotionally loaded storylines. Inspired by Pete Davies' book, "I Lost My Heart to the Belles," which profiles England's prestigious female soccer team, the Doncaster Belles, the series quickly establishes the determination of each of the 11 women in the Castlefield Blues soccer team to play in the Women's FA Cup final. Although bound by loyalty to the club and to each other, jealousy, sexual infidelity and family dysfunction conspire to splinter the team.

The ABCs of lust: An amorous schoolmaster (Rupert Graves) sets his sights on the new teacher (Sienna Guillory) in Take a Girl Like You

The first season kicks off in fine form with a wedding that goes comically awry, and wraps up, six episodes later, with a surprise wedding at which an innocent bystander suddenly becomes the bride! The cast includes a top-notch ensemble of recognizable actors from the U.K., including Lesley Sharp (Daylight Robbery), Saira Todd (Queer as Folk), Elizabeth Spriggs (Wives and Daughters) and the two male stars of Cold Feet, James Nesbitt and John Thomson.

Least contemporary of all, but particularly noteworthy for North American viewers, is the two-part BBC documentary, The Emigrants (Tuesday, Vision), which traces Scottish migration to banks of the St. Lawrence, the Maritime coasts, the Canadian Arctic and the American South. It's not as dry as it sounds. TV GUIDE

As Kate O'Brien on The Drew Carey Show, Christa Miller just loves hangin' out with a bunch of nutty guys

Miller Time

by Kevin Dickson

photography by Larsen & Talbert

Christa Miller

"I'M ADDICTED TO SURVIVOR LIKE A JUNKIE IS TO CRACK," jokes Christa Miller of The Drew Carey Show. Speaking from her Los Angeles home a few weeks prior to the ratings-busting second season finale, the actress, who plays Kate O'Brien on the comedy series, laughs at her own obsession with the reality show.

"My husband wants to videotape me watching it because I'm so glued. And I'm not a TV nut. It's better than last year. How excited were you when Jerri got booted off?"

Miller also loves Sex and the City ("I'm from New York, so I love seeing all my little haunts") and The West Wing. "They're all the smartest people in the world, down to the 16-year-old intern," Miller says. "They have all read every report, they have the right opinion, everyone has memorized every statistic and they're funny. You don't usually see that every person in an office has a dry, funny wit and is brilliant. But maybe it's so in the White House. That's my hope."

Drew sets the tone. He doesn't have a big ego

Back in Drew Carey Land – or Cleveland, Ohio, as it's more commonly known – the Drew Carey team is capping off another strong year with just three episodes left to film for the sixth season. The show's ratings are solid, there's no trouble on the set, and the one-hour finale is coming up.

"It's still the same fun; we still like each other," Miller enthuses about her day job.

In this age of TV documentaries detailing the backbiting and drama behind the hit shows of the past, a claim that a series in its sixth season features a cast that gets along is naturally suspect. What's their secret? "The secret is that Drew sets the tone," Miller says, simply. "He's so un-Hollywood. He doesn't have a bad attitude or a big ego. He's so inclusive of any suggestions or ideas that anyone might have." Miller adds that everyone in the cast is "very, very professional. There's not a problem person on the set."

And how much control is Miller able to exert over the writing and direction of her character on the show? "The writers always do a great job, but if I think a joke can be better, I'll just tell them. And if I feel that Kate is getting too slutty, I'll say, 'That's just too slutty' and they'll take it out." She laughs, adding, "Kate's very slutty."

Not that sluttiness and sanity are mutually exclusive, but Miller's onscreen persona does seem to be the only sane one in Drew Carey's orbit. Miller admits she doesn't know why her character hangs out with all these nutty men, but she suspects it's because she has a "very bad" temper and as a result, doesn't have other friends, including women.

In many ways, Kate has picked up the torch from Seinfeld's Elaine Benes: she's eccentric, forthright, independent and stronger than her coterie of male friends. Miller likes this comparison. "Well, thank you," she demurs.

The writers have made Kate "really fun," points out Miller, and everyone has made an effort to keep her character real or "not too glamorous," as Miller puts it .

"It's tempting on TV: you want to wear the cute, glamorous clothes, but we are in Cleveland. I love being one of the guys."

The Drew Carey Show*'s Christa Miller on her character Kate: She's "very slutty"

In real life, Miller admits she, too, likes hanging out with the guys. "I'm on a softball league every Sunday and my husband and I play tennis." Unlike Kate, however, Miller does have "really good" girlfriends. And, she loves the show's female guest stars, including Marion Ross, Shirley Jones ("They're great") and Illeana Douglas ("She's another non-actressy person. She's really down to earth and very nice").

WATCH TUESDAYS ON CTV, WEDNESDAYS ON ABC

As the May sweeps roll around, it's time to start anticipating The Drew Carey Show's annual season finale musical extravaganza ... or perhaps another stunt? "I haven't seen the script," Miller laughs. "It's usually very hush-hush. There could be a huge gimmick stunt dance casting thing in the last episode. They don't tell us so I don't tell you."

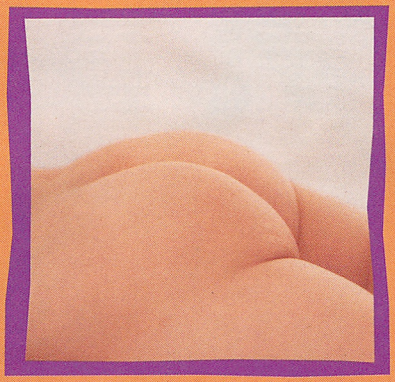

One thing Miller will reveal is that there will be another season of The Drew Carey Show, although she adds, "I'm not sure if Drew wants to do an eighth year. We've had a great run, and I'm really happy to be part of it. Whatever Drew and ABC decide is great. Whatever will be, will be."

Que sera sera, indeed. And will there be a romantic reunion between Kate and Drew? "I'm hoping," Miller says. "I think that right now, Kate's decided that she doesn't want to have a baby, but hopefully, she'll change her mind."

So, it's not inconceivable that The Drew Carey Show could end with a wedding? Miller laughs. "I don't know. Hopefully. Again, they don't tell me anything. They know we have big, big mouths and we'd tell everyone." TV GUIDE

teacher's pet

by Simone A. Brown

Montreal's Jessalyn Gilsig gets high marks on Boston Public

Jessalyn Gilsig is finally at the top of her class. After some 15 years treading the boards on stage and screen, the Montreal native has hit the big time in her first television series, Boston Public.

Of her success, Gilsig says getting a steady acting job is reason to celebrate, but having a role on a hit show is a bonus. "I'm thrilled the show has done well and we get to do it again next year. It is impossible for me to fathom how I got so lucky."

Who wouldn't feel lucky? As Lauren Davis, the popular and highly principled teacher at Winslow High School, Gilsig works up to 16-hour days on the set ... and enjoys every minute of it.

How old does your hair look?
PROCTER & GAMBLE INC.

It may surprise you to know that just like skin, your hair goes through a natural process of aging. Answer these few simple questions to find out about your hair.

- ☐ Have you noticed that your hair is thinner than it used to be?
- ☐ Have you often exposed your hair to the sun?
- ☐ Has your hair become dryer than it used to be?
- ☐ Have you had children and noticed a change in your hair as a result?
- ☐ Have you found your first grey hair?
- ☐ Do you feel the need to colour your hair more often?
- ☐ Are you now using more permanent hair colourants?
- ☐ Do you feel the need to go to your hairdresser more frequently?

If you've answered mostly YES, you may be experiencing the telltale signs of hair aging. Over time, your hair loses some amino acids, the very substances that make up the building blocks of its structure. The good news is there's now a hair care regime rich in amino acids that restores the look and feel of youthful vitality: Inner Science. Inner Science is to your hair what a good skin care regime is to your face.

Cleanse: Give your hair a wake-up call as it bathes in a rich, pampering lather.

Nourish: Luxuriate in the moisture-rich formulation, allowing the amino acids to penetrate to the core of your hair.

Protect: Complete the ritual with a tri-amino acid formula that strengthens and continuously protects the structure of your hair.

Just like a skin care regime, you won't see the full effects overnight. So follow the Inner Science regime daily, and we think you'll see the signs of something remarkable: younger-looking hair.

WATCH MONDAYS ON GLOBAL/FOX

"It's fun on our show because although the storylines are about issues, they are also character-driven. As an actor, you never do the same thing twice."

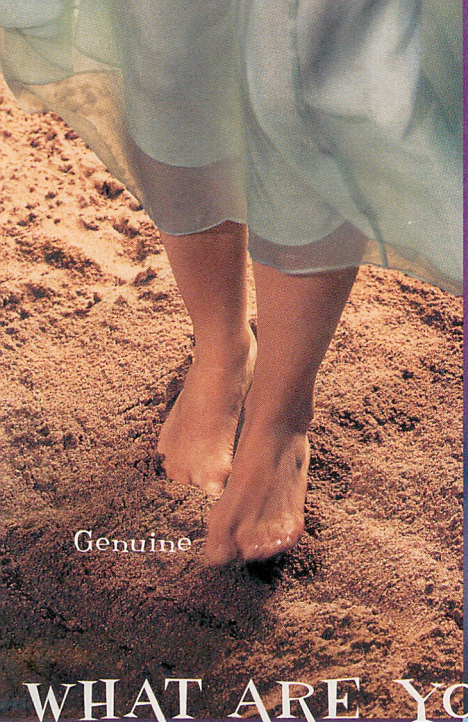

Boston Public has won high ratings and received critical acclaim since premièring last fall. It's the latest creation of executive producer David E. Kelley, also responsible for such hits as The Practice and Ally McBeal. This time, Kelley moved his focus from the courtroom to the classroom as Boston Public explores the personal and professional lives of high-school teachers and administrators. Gilsig credits the show's success to Kelley's ability to write brilliant scripts about controversial and realistic topics. This season, the show has dealt with issues such as racism, teen suicide, teen sex and teacher-student affairs. What Gilsig finds most surprising is that parents are shocked by the show while teenagers are not. "Kids say 'Oh yeah, that's my school' and the parents can't believe it. We hear about parents who sit down and watch the show with their kids because it's educational for the parents."

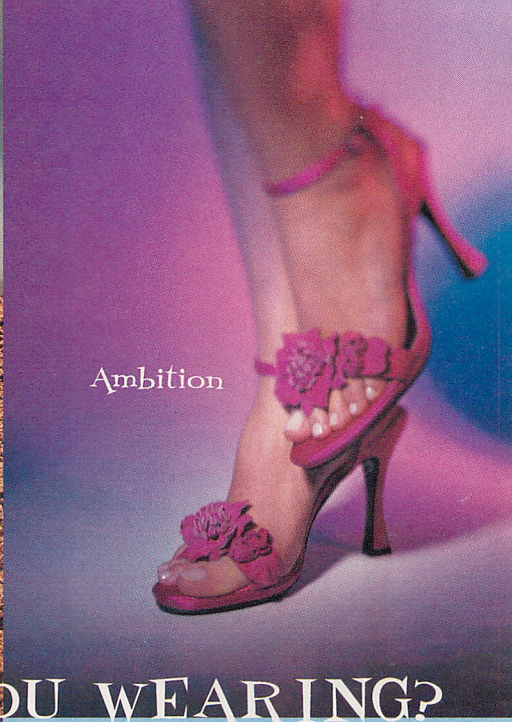

As for what she thinks of her character, Gilsig describes Davis as very opinionated and passionate. She says the students at Winslow High who call her "the nun" have read her all wrong. "Lauren is a reserved person so people interpret that as ultra-conservative, but I think she's just somebody who is quietly watching."

Born and raised in Montreal, the twentysomething Gilsig began acting at the age of 12. She studied drama at McGill University and the American Repertory Theatre Institute at Harvard. After graduating, Gilsig moved to New York City where she appeared in several off-Broadway plays. Film work soon followed, including roles in The Horse Whisperer with Robert Redford (1998), and A Cooler Climate with Judy Davis and Sally Field (1999). She also lent her voice to the character Kayley in the animated feature Quest For Camelot (1998). Gilsig's guest appearance on The Practice impressed Kelley so much that he gave her a role on his show Snoops. Although Snoops was cancelled before her episodes aired, Kelley asked Gilsig to sign up for Boston Public and wrote the role of Lauren Davis with her in mind. "It still gives me the chills," she confides. "To have such a talented writer want to write something for you has got to be the greatest honor an actor can receive."

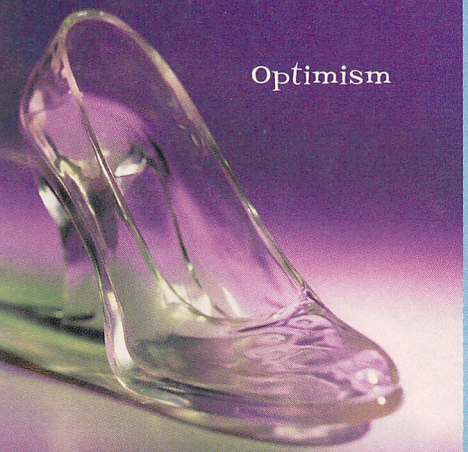

During her off-time, Gilsig enjoys hiking with friends and her dog, a four-year-old Dalmatian. Since moving to California, she admits she takes every opportunity to enjoy the Hollywood sunshine but when possible, she returns to Montreal to visit her family. "I like to go home and see my friends. It's great to go back and just get lost in that." TV GUIDE

Crunchy chicken keeps the faith

Rita Deverell: Conversation and food are "really important"

Although the idea of baking chicken with granola may be new to some, Rita Deverell has been using this crunchy coating for quite a while. As the health-conscious executive producer of the human-affairs program, Skylight (weekdays, Vision), Deverell didn't like the idea of frying chicken in oil or using packaged seasonings. "Granola seemed like an excellent compromise between splashing the entire kitchen with olive oil, and using something like Shake 'N Bake," she says.

Skylight features documentary reports, panels, media and pop culture reviews, all with a common thread: faith. "Our show is solution oriented," she explains. "We don't just say 'aren't [these stories] awful' ... we always try to go deeper."

While her work with Skylight has largely been directed towards more spiritual topics, Deverell believes relationships, family and the rituals associated with dining can offer meaning and stability to everyone. "I believe that each day should end with a nice meal, some candles and a little wine," she says." Although Deverell likes cooking, she also says that on a regular basis, her cooking "isn't that serious."

Most of her "serious" culinary endeavors happen on the weekend or on holidays. And indeed, cooking for visitors is something that the former Regina resident really enjoys. "I lived there for 20 years, where people are very important," she says. "When someone moves away [from Regina], you're missed," she explains, "I think I've tried to internalize that in the big city."

Along with good food, Deverell places great value on good conversation as the most important ingredient to any meal. "I don't like entertainment to be mediated by a restaurant or by going to see something," she says. "Real conversation and real food, I think, are really quite important."

granola facts

1. What's the difference between granola and muesli? Both contain whole grains, dried fruits, and sometimes nuts, but granola is normally baked (usually with oil and honey), making it a crunchy snack that can be eaten as-is anytime. Muesli's grains are uncooked, and need to be soaked in yogurt, milk or juice before eating.

2. Oats, a key ingredient in granola, contain protein, B vitamins, vitamin E, calcium and iron.

3. Modern breakfast cereals were invented in the 1860s by vegetarian American Seventh-day Adventists.

Chicken Peanut-tine

1 1/4 lb/625 g	organic, boneless, skinless chicken breasts
1	egg
2 tbsp/25 mL	water
1 cup/250 mL	granola, finely chopped
1/4 tsp/1 mL	garlic salt or salt
	freshly ground pepper
1/2 cup/125 mL	dry white wine (optional), divided
1 can (14 oz/398 mL)	peach slices, drained
1/4 cup/50 mL	peanuts, finely chopped

Use 2 fresh peaches, peeled and sliced, or canned peaches in light syrup. For crispy chicken, omit the wine. Deverell prefers to purchase organic chicken as it does not contain any hormones or antibiotics. In a shallow bowl, mix egg and water. In second bowl, mix granola, salt and pepper to taste. Coat chicken pieces in egg mixture and then in granola. Place in baking dish in a single layer and add 1/4 cup (50 mL) wine, if using. Bake in 350°F (180°C) oven for 20 minutes; layer with peach slices and sprinkle with peanuts and remaining 1/4 cup (50 mL) wine, if using. Continue baking for additional 20 minutes or until chicken juices run clear when chicken is pierced. Makes 4 servings.

PER SERVING (WITHOUT WINE): 420 CALORIES, 45 G PROTEIN, 16 G FAT, 25 G CARBOHYDRATE.

ORANGE DRESSING
1/2 cup/125 mL	vegetable oil
1/4 cup/50 mL	orange juice
2 tbsp/25 mL	cider vinegar

My three daughters

Sixteen years ago this week, Dolph Sweet, who played Carl Kanisky, the lovable police chief and widower father of three daughters on the popular sitcom, Gimme A Break (1981-87), died of cancer.

The '80s show centred on Nell Harper (Nell Carter), a housekeeper and nanny who acted as the surrogate mother to Kanisky's three daughters: the eldest, Kate (Kari Michaelson), the tomboy-turned-sleek college girl, Sam (Lara Jill Miller), and Julie (Lauri Hendler).

In the show's third season, Joey Lawrence (who later joined the cast of Blossom) was introduced as Joey Donovan, an adorable six-year-old orphan and con artist who stole Nell's heart.

NBC, INC.

The family lived in California until the 1986 season, when Nell moved, with her best friend Addy (Telma Hopkins) and Joey to New York City. Popular talk-show host, Rosie O'Donnell, joined the cast as the Kaniskys' neighbor, Maggie O'Brien.

Following Sweet's death, Michaelson and Miller left the cast. Only Hendler remained, and her character, Julie, married Jonathan Silverman, who took over as Jonathan Maxwell, the man of the house. In New York, Nell managed to track down Joey's deadbeat dad and younger brother, Matthew (played by Lawrence's real-life brother, Matthew).

While Gimme A Break dealt with many social issues, including birth control, pregnancy, smoking, relationships, marriage, homosexuality, racism and infidelity, perhaps one of the most poignant themes on the show was death. Not only did the girls have to cope with the death of their mother, but their father's profession as a police officer placed him in dangerous situations. And when Sweet actually died, they worked through their grief on the show. TV GUIDE

3. Guest stars on Gimme A Break included Helen Hunt, Whitney Houston, Milton Berle, Sammy Davis Jr., Ray Parker Jr., the Pointer Sisters, Pat Sajak, Vanna White, Tony Randall, Elizabeth Berkley and Tonya Lee Williams.

WHAT WE'RE ABOUT

Over the past few months, TV Guide has received numerous letters and e-mails regarding the magazine's role in TV programming. Readers have expressed frustration about which programs air on television, and the increasing regularity with which repeat programming of existing shows is being broadcast. Although we like to get your feedback on all aspects of television, it is also important to point out that TV Guide magazine does not make decisions about which programs and movies are aired on television. We merely report what's offered, on a weekly basis. Decisions about what you see on television, and when, are made by the CRTC, in conjuction with the Canadian and U.S. television networks. For this reason, we encourage you to contact the CRTC or networks directly with any questions or comments you may have.

Thanks for reading TV Guide!

"Courage Under Fire"

It's a scene that unfolds every day all across the country. A fire starts, quickly engulfing a building...sending billows of thick smoke out of flame-filled windows. And in all the chaos, lives, families, homes, and memories hang in the balance. Fortunately, a battalion of bravery stands at the ready to fight the flames.

Presenting "Courage Under Fire," a fully-sculptural limited-edition presentation that is crafted to honour this heroic profession in intricate detail. At its center is a fine porcelain plate edged in 22K gold and crafted in the shape of the Maltese Cross—a symbol of protection that has become every firefighter's badge of honor. A two-dimensional image of a firefighter in the center of the plate is adorned with a low-relief hook-and-ladder and fire hydrant on each side.

Extensive hand-crafting combined with a strict edition limit means that anticipated strong demand could exceed availability. To order this unique work for only $54.95—backed by our 365-day guarantee—send no money now. Simply complete and mail the coupon today!

Each sculptural detail is individually cast and painted by hand!

DALE EARNHARDT IS "ALWAYS A CHAMPION"

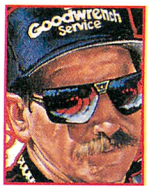

Many professional drivers would give anything for even a fleeting taste of Dale Earnhardt's success. But this in itself is what set "The Intimidator™" apart: the seven-time winner of the NASCAR® Winston Cup championship never settled for anything short of excellence.

This refusal to compromise is part of Dale Earnhardt's greatness, and now, it's the inspiration for a dazzling collector's plate, "Always A Champion." This breathtaking montage brings a handsome portrait of the legendary "Intimidator™" together with two dynamic glimpses of his famous black #3® Monte Carlo®.

In creating this incredible limited edition plate, artist Robert Tannenbaum reminds us why he too is considered a "champion" in his field. Fittingly, this important collectible is bordered and hand-numbered in 24-karat gold, issued in a strictly limited edition, and accompanied by a same-numbered Certificate of Authenticity.

This dramatic plate from The Hamilton Collection is now available to you through The Bradford Exchange, and is backed by our unconditional money-back guarantee.

Celebrate one of racing's most legendary drivers—don't wait to order "Always A Champion" at the $44.95 issue price. You need send no money now. You will be billed when your plate is shipped.

A Morning Smile for Mother's Day.

Lemon Ricotta Pancakes with Raspberry Maple Sauce

- 4 eggs, separated
- 1 cup (250 mL) ricotta cheese
- 3 tbsp (45 mL) sugar
- 1/2 cup (125 mL) all-purpose flour
- 1 tbsp (15 mL) grated lemon peel
- 2 tbsp (30 mL) butter

SAUCE:

- 1/3 cup (75 mL) raspberry jam, preferably seedless, sweetened or not
- 1/3 cup (75 mL) maple syrup

In large mixing bowl, place egg yolks. Whisk in ricotta cheese, sugar, flour and lemon peel. In large bowl, beat egg whites with an electric mixer until white glossy peaks form. Stir 1/4 amount into the ricotta mixture, then fold the two mixtures together gently. In large nonstick skillet, melt butter. Fold butter into the batter. Drop mixture by tablespoons into the hot buttered skillet. Flatten pancakes slightly with the back of the spoon. Cook about 2 minutes per side until lightly browned and cooked through. FOR THE SAUCE: In small saucepan, warm raspberry jam with maple syrup. Drizzle sauce over pancakes or serve sauce on the side.

EGGS OK! ANYTIME

CLOSE UP

(NW) 10 PM

Passionate Eye

At first sight, Robert Eads looks like an average cowboy. But on the inside, he's not. He is a 53-year-old female-to-male transsexual dying of ovarian cancer. "Southern Comfort" follows Eads during his last year of life as he candidly discusses the obstacles he has faced as a transsexual, the most significant being that he was not able to receive treatment for his illness. Despite the severity of his condition, he was denied medical help from doctors in Georgia who feared having transgendered patients would hurt their practices and offend other patients. This documentary shows that, despite these barriers, Eads was able to lead a normal and fulfilling life. (1 hr., 30 min.) — Simone A. Brown

Chase K-9 Hero

If you think your dog is talented just by being able to give you a high five, check out Chase, the amazing police dog. He sniffs out the bad guys and leaps tall backyard fences in a single bound! This documentary follows Chase and his handler, Const. Dave Mounsteven, as they travel Durham Region looking for criminals or, as in one case, a boy lost in a swamp. Viewers run alongside the duo as they sniff out criminals and witness the intense training the dogs endure — German shepherds are favored as they are the smartest at performing all required tasks. A more sombre event is the funeral service for a police dog shot and killed in the line of duty. (60 min.) — Karyn J. Wilson

THE FRANKLIN MINT. SHARING YOUR PASSION FOR COLLECTING.

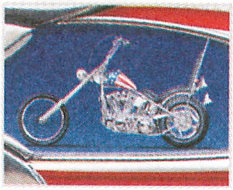

To bring this classic to life, Harley-Davidson® chose Franklin Mint Collector Knives because...

Their knives are crafted of solid precision-cast components, assembled entirely by hand with inner liners, and fitted with high-quality stainless steel blades.

It's the radical, customized Harley-Davidson® Panhead Motorcycle that became the symbol of freedom in the classic motion picture Easy Rider.™ And this collector knife captures all the power and spirit of the machine that was born to be wild! Featuring a full-color illustration of the Ultimate Chopper set off within a frame gleaming with accents of sterling silver. A stylized profile of Harley-Davidson's famous® eagle emblem forms the bolster. And the distinctive Harley-Davidson® logo is re-created in dramatic detail.

The stainless steel blade bears the name of the motorcycle. And the minted medal of Franklin Mint Collector Knives is also set into the handle. The edition is forever limited to just 45 casting days. Complete with its own padded and zippered case. Just $55. Available only from The Franklin Mint, 50 West Wilmot St Suite 8, Richmond Hill, ON L4B 4C8.
